THE 1958 QUILL AND BLADE

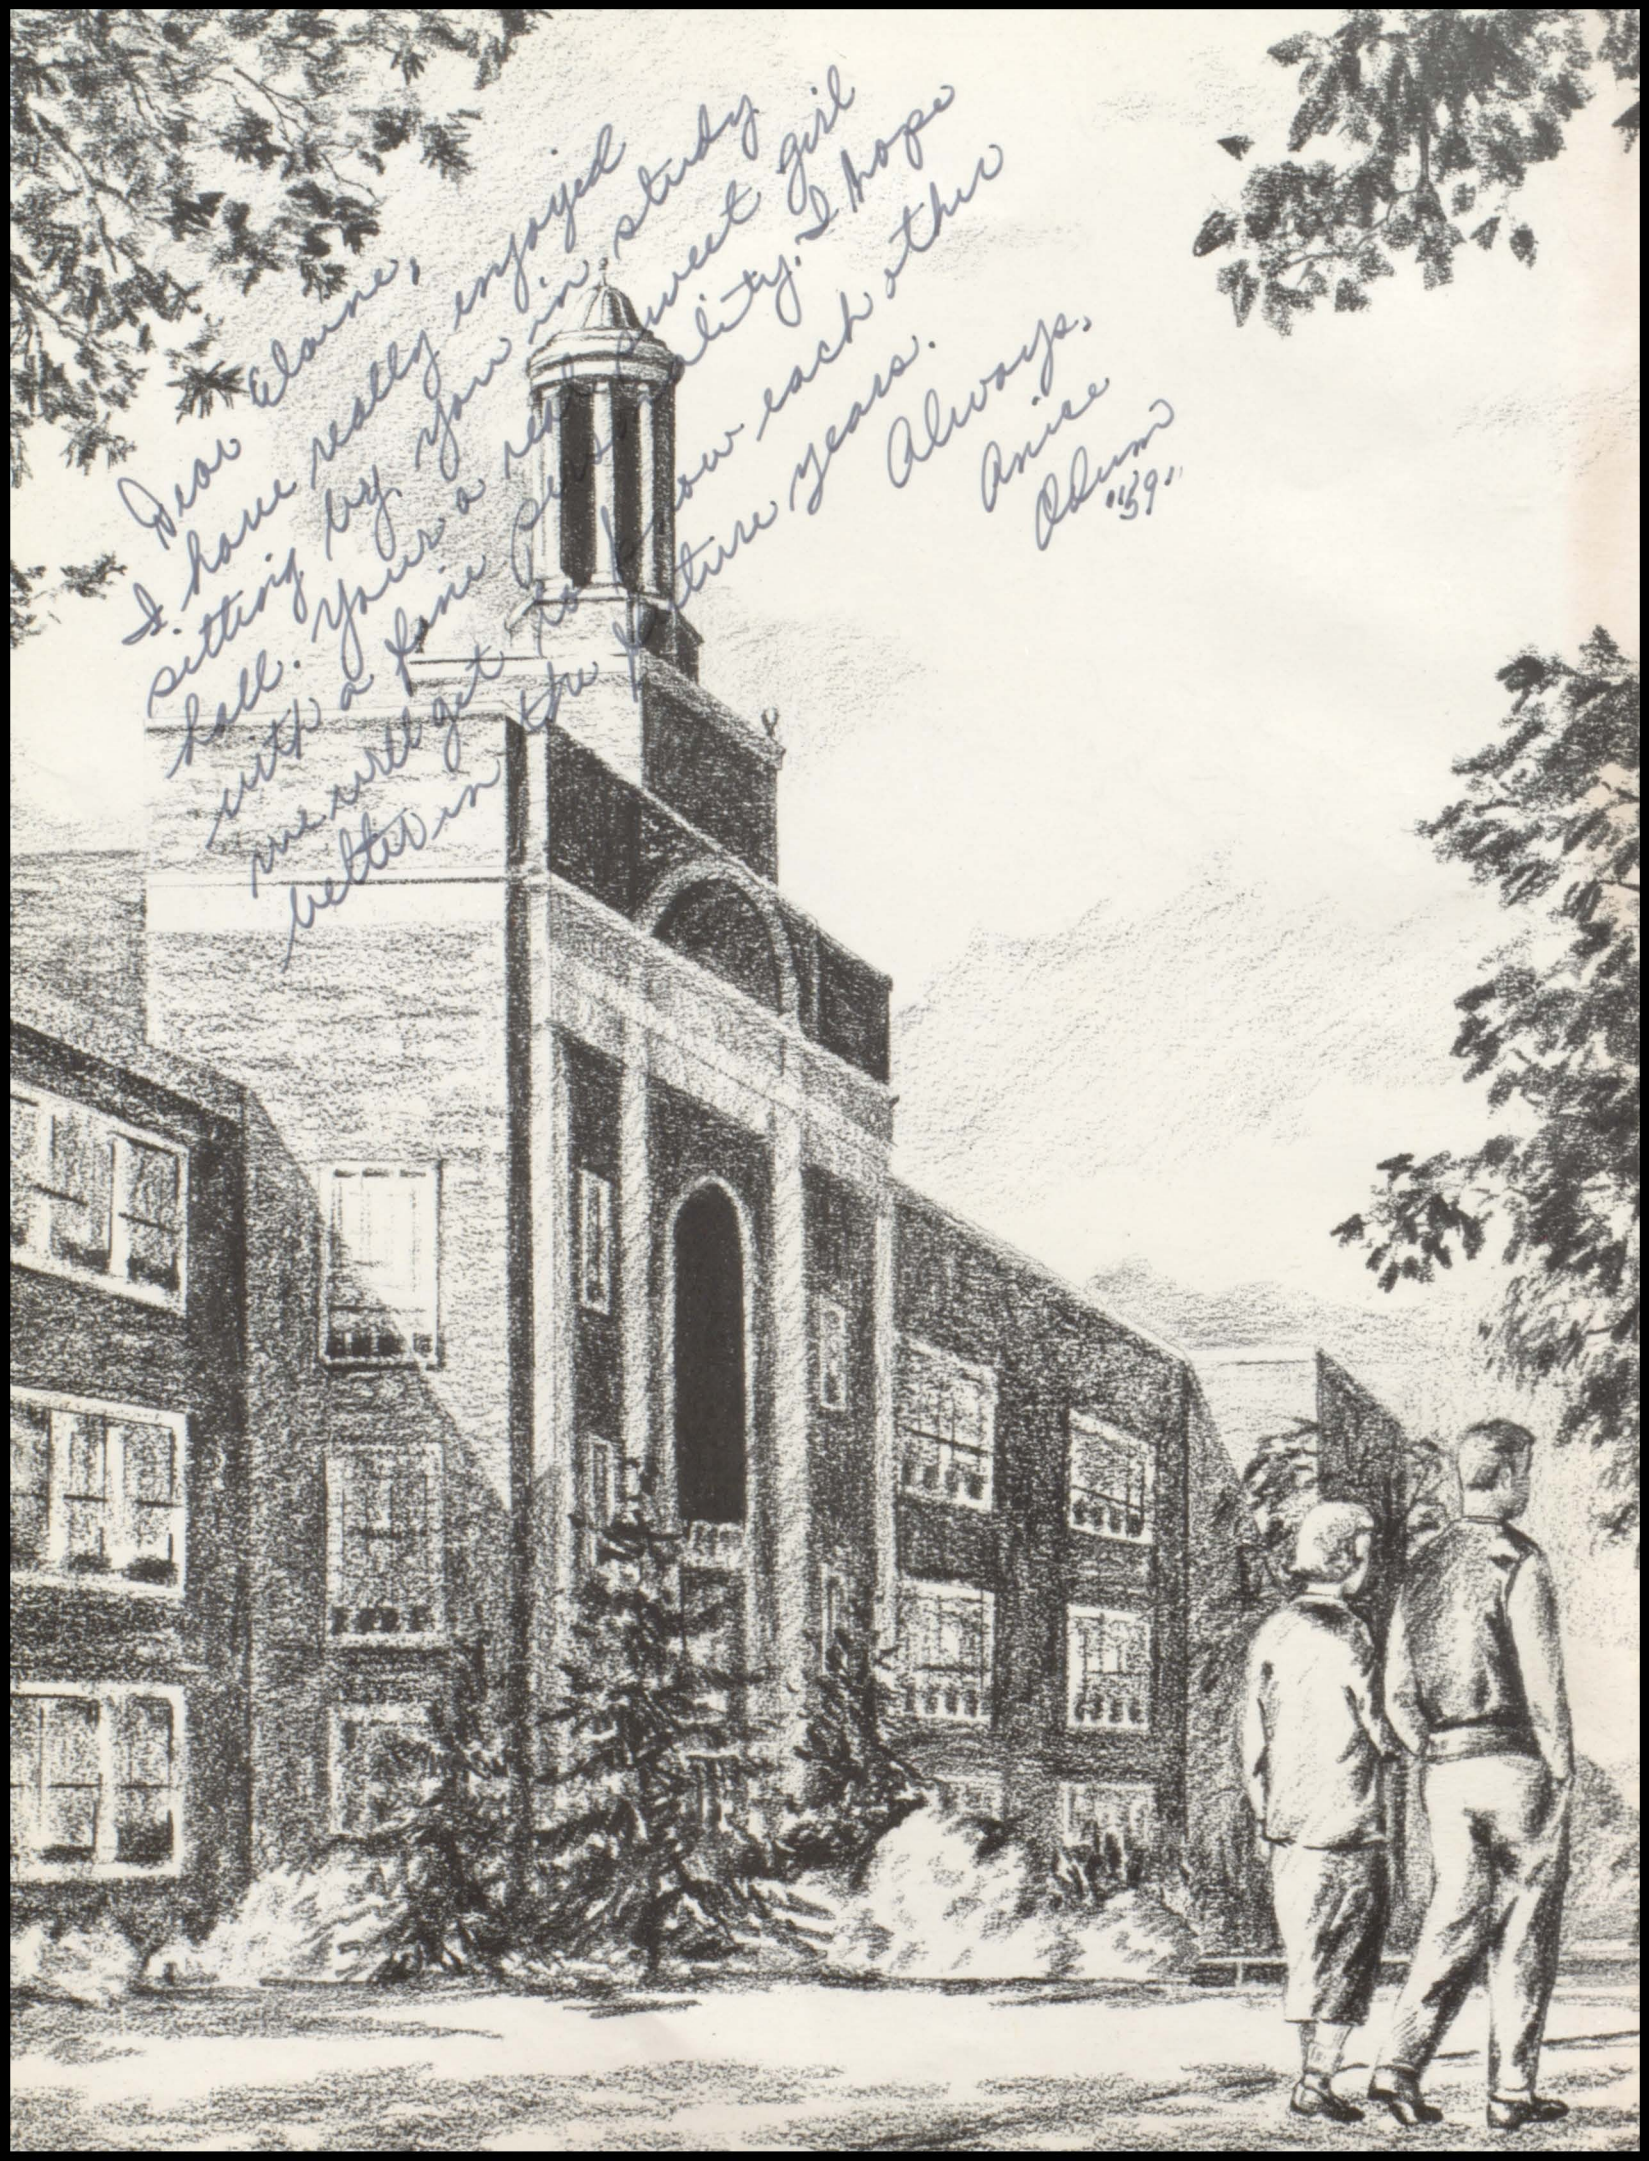

LEW WALLACE HIGH SCHOOL
GARY, INDIANA

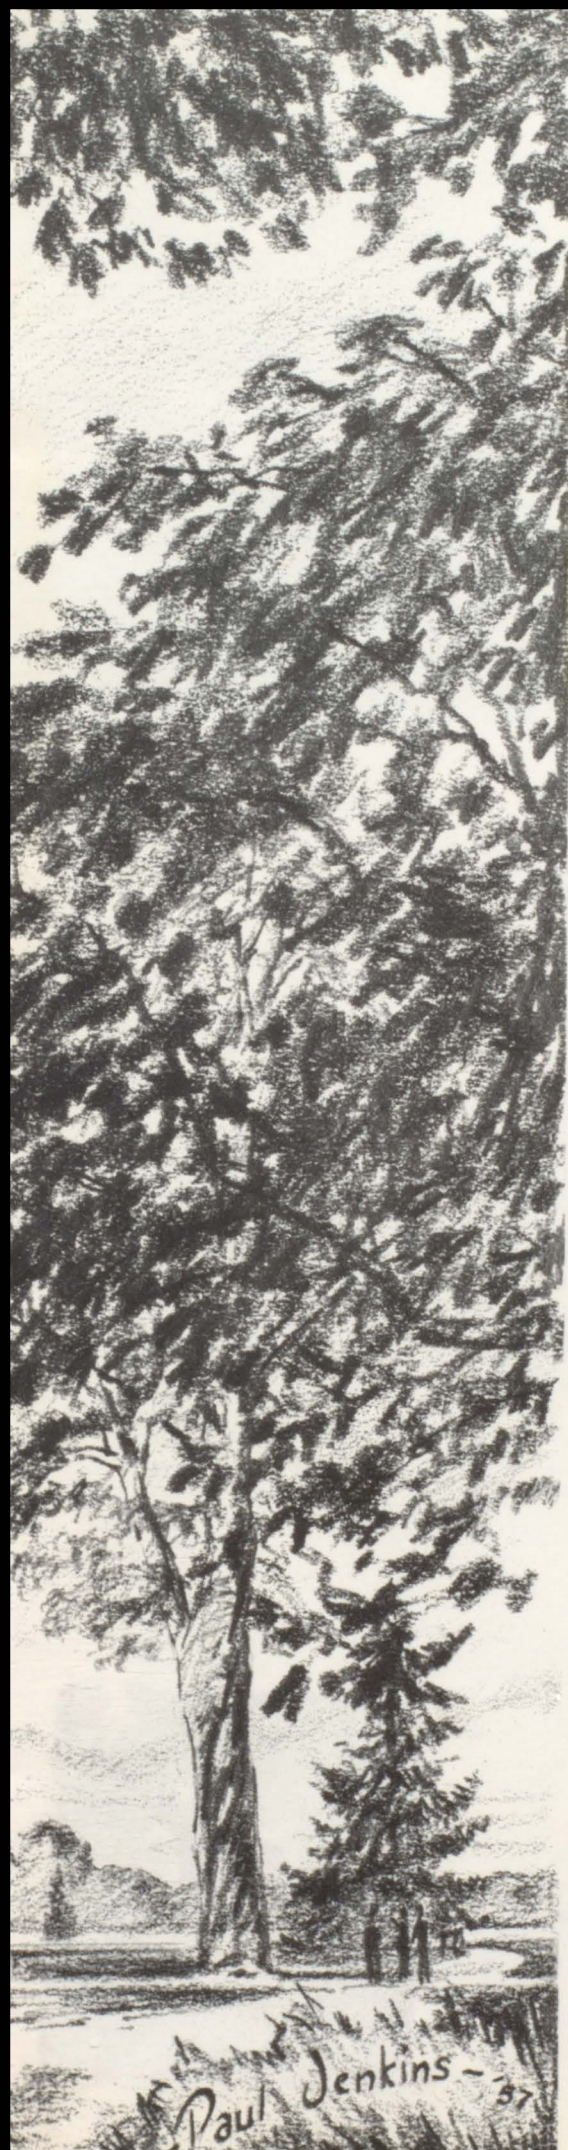

Presented by the Publications Staff

Dear Elaine,
I have really enjoyed sitting by your side in study hall. You are a real sweet girl with a fine personality. I hope we will get to know each other better in the future years.

Always,

THE SPIRIT OF LEW WALLACE

The name Lew Wallace was chosen for our school in honor of the distinguished general who is remembered as the author of "Ben Hur" and many other books. By popular vote of the students attending the Forty-fifth Avenue Grade School in 1926, the official change in name was made. The enrollment at that time was 502; today we have 3097 students in our school.

Through the co-operation of General Wallace's grandson and the Wallace family, our school adopted the crest of the Wallace family. This crest was created during one of the bloodiest Scotch wars when William Wallace, serving under Robert Bruce, led an attempt to prevent the British from gaining control of Scotland and the throne.

The crest consisted of the figure of an upraised lion representing strength, a lifted hand to represent peace, an ostrich for beauty with a horseshoe in its mouth for good luck, and thistles representing Scotland. To complete the crest, the Latin motto, "Sperandum est," meaning "One must hope," was inscribed above the ostrich.

The Publications Staff is proud to present the 1958 Quill and Blade dedicated to:

ENGAGING IN

Some of the happiest moments of our lives have been spent while participating in school affairs. Working and having fun together have given us an opportunity to get acquainted with each other.

Musical organizations such as the Lewettes have helped us to appreciate music. They participate in musical events for school and social affairs.

Our parents also have helped to keep our school spirit alive, especially when they joined with our teachers to organize the PTA's annual Fall Festival. This was the occasion for the annual Faculty Play.

We will probably never forget the many conversions of the school gym into seventh heaven for those dreamy dances such as the Inaugural Ball and Washington's Ball.

Through our many activities, we have learned to work together and to be tolerant and more understanding toward those who do not share our own points of view. Our activities help us keep alive the spirit of Lew Wallace.

Looking as if they are in seventh heaven are Pat Coady and Tom Owens at the annual Inaugural Ball.

Miss Mary Elaine Gregorczyk,
 Although I've just met you this year I think you're a fine girl. Keep smiling and happy. Best of Luck Always.
 A friend till the end,
 C. David Mroz

Giving advice and guidance to the students of Wallace is one of the many duties of our new assistant principal, Mr. Lawrence Derthick.

SCHOOL AFFAIRS

"Death to you, thou villian!" threatens Mr. R. Hills to Mr. R. Anderson as Mrs. L. Olson, Miss G. Eckert, and Mrs. L. Roberts look on during the faculty play. This is the highlight of the P.T.A. Fall Festival.

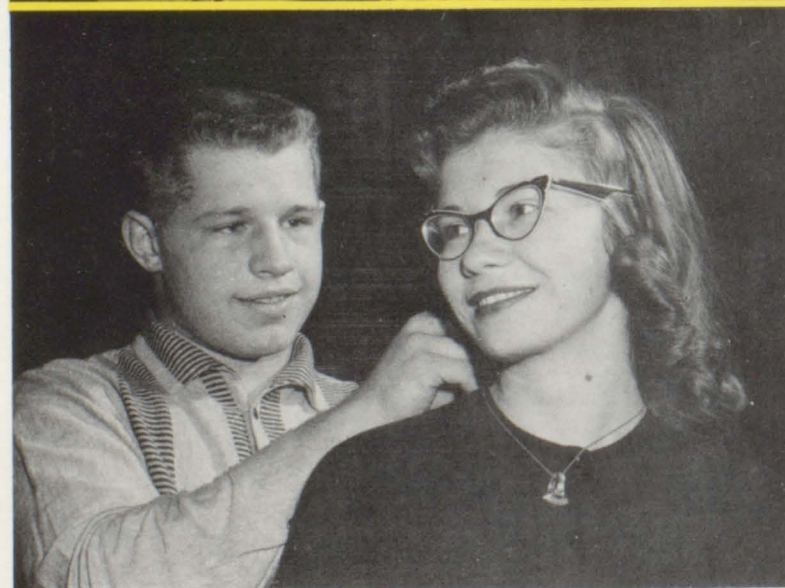

FACING NEW

Time out from dancing at the Sock Hop is taken by Donna Wilden, Sharon Eyears, Marian Erdelac, Sandra Magdich, Pamela Crnkovich, Sandra Norton, Gerry Pilla, and Marie Morganelli.

Edee Green and Jim Baker wonder which college they will be attending this fall, as they look at various pennants which were on display for College Day.

George

Going steady is a new experience shared by George Eckert and Gerry Gregorczyk.

EXPERIENCES

We find that our growing up is a process of meeting new experiences and learning to cope with them. Conferences with our assistant principal, Mr. Lawrence Derthick, help to pave the way to a successful high-school career. Through our College Day conferences many of us choose our future college.

The spirit of Lew Wallace is noted in our class-rings, for the crest of our school and our school colors are embossed on them.

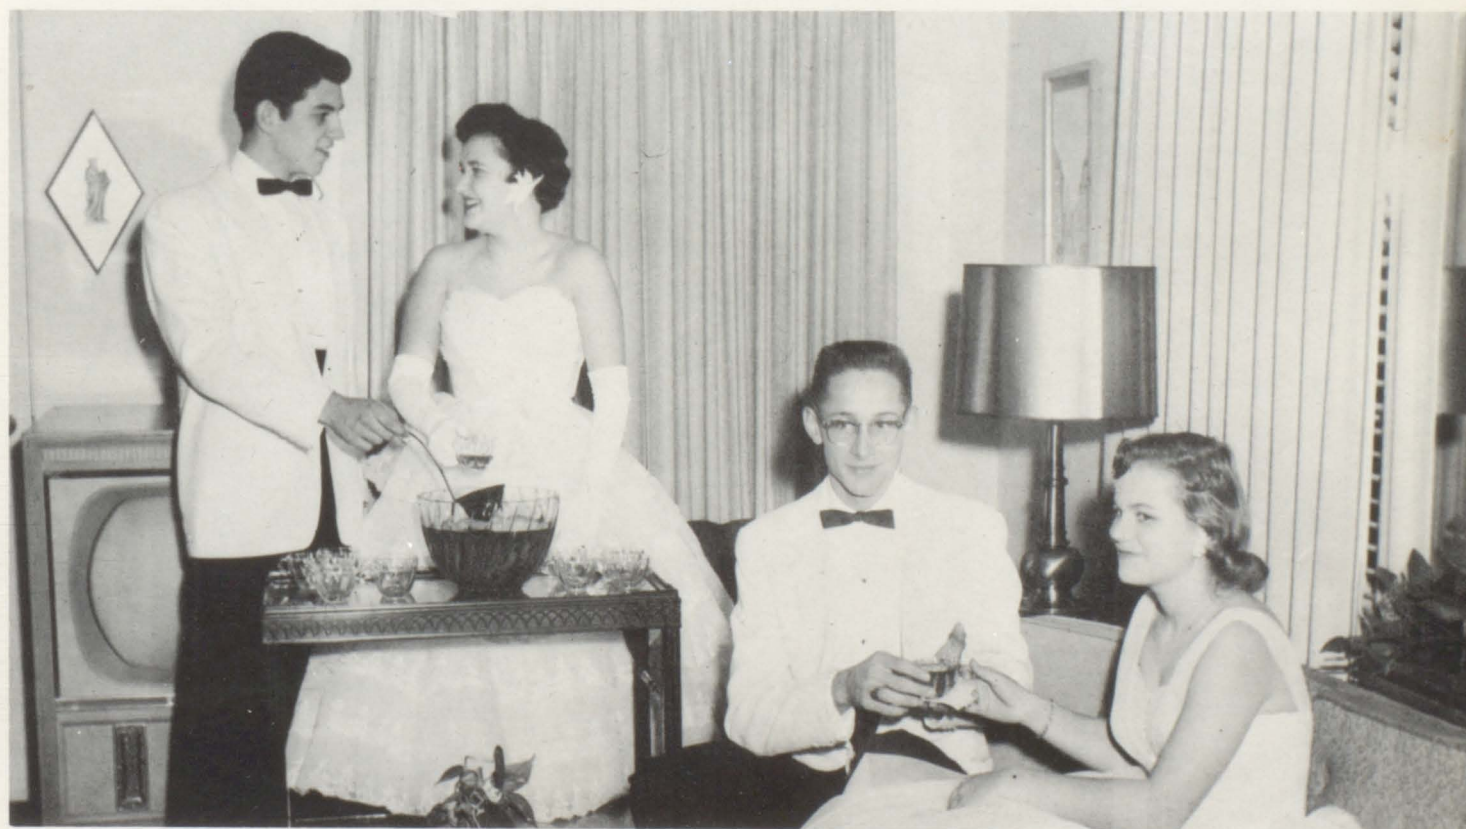

Seniors look forward to Washington, D.C. and the senior trip—a trip that gives each group a sense of unity.

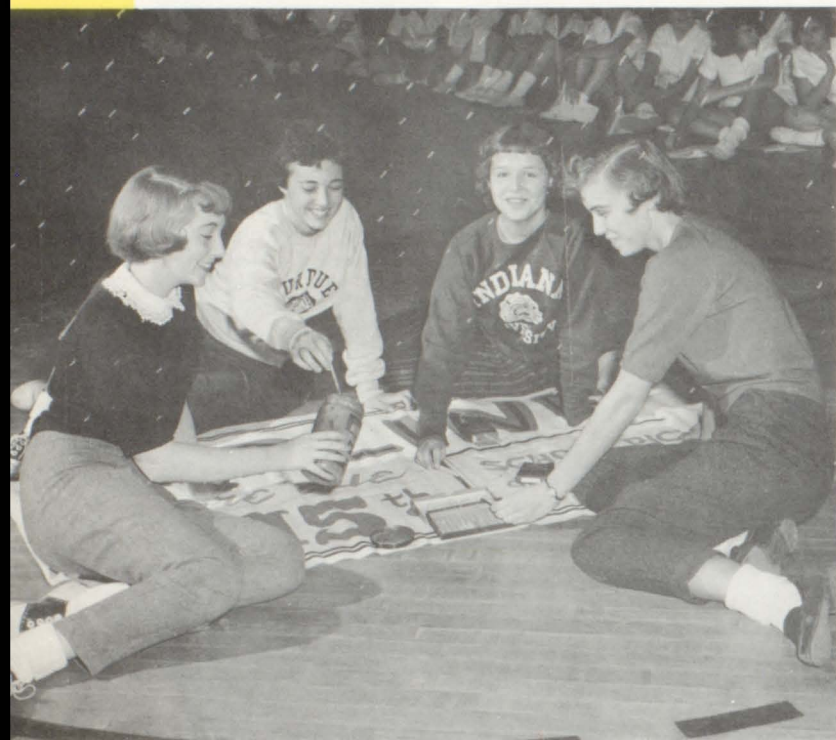

One of the major highlights of the year, the Junior-Senior Prom, made us realize that the doors to our high school years are slowly closing, never to be opened again. We discover that we have enjoyed these new experiences and the memories are ours.

Coke-tail parties help with the anticipation of a wonderful time at the Prom. Attending one such party are Dennis Schwartz, Darlene Sendre, Martin Novosel, and Yvonne Stazinski. (Courtesy of Frank's Store for Men.)

The changing of the guard at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier is one of the outstanding sights on the Washington Trip.

A great deal of our time after school is spent participating in the great variety of clubs and activities that our school offers.

At times, many students are found long after the last bell, making posters or decorations for various dances and activities sponsored by school organizations. The Publications Staff often stayed after school to work on such projects as writing the Daily Bulletin or preparing class pictures for distribution.

The members of Auxilia put in many extra hours to keep the Senior Library in order each day. The F.T.A. sold potato chips twice a week, furnishing after-school snacks.

To make our school better, many students give up some leisure moments to work after school. These behind-the-scene workers receive little credit for the work they do, but they keep our school spirit alive.

WORKING

Sue Wagner, Sylvia Lincoln, Jeanne Zaviski, and Phyllis Thomas are busily working on posters to help publicize a school event.

The Publications mascot, Wally, overlooks Martha Melvin, Lois Patrizi, Wilma Knoop, Pat Marczewski, Pat Gruenberg, and Louise Deckter as they sort 3059 packages of Indiana School Pictures for distribution.

Laura Jonushaitis and Judy Palmer, members of Auxilia, spend many hours before school serving the patrons of the Senior Library.

AFTER SCHOOL

As one of their main projects of the year, the F.T.A. sold potato chips after school on Tuesday and Thursday.

The seniors attend one of their last class meetings as the Class of 1958 in the main auditorium.

"Character is higher than intellect" is the theme of many Wallace activities. This famous quotation which is inscribed on the proscenium arch in the auditorium, is in full view at every class meeting and auditorium program, and helps us realize that we are in school to develop many traits of character and personality as well as those of scholarship.

Pep meetings bring the student body together and create a friendly atmosphere. They are our means of letting the team know we are backing them.

We learn to be good housekeepers by keeping our lockers neat. Everything we do is a part of character training which in turn is a part of the spirit of Lew Wallace.

BUILDING INDIVIDUAL

Ready to cheer their team on to victory, Wallacites make their way to the pep meeting.

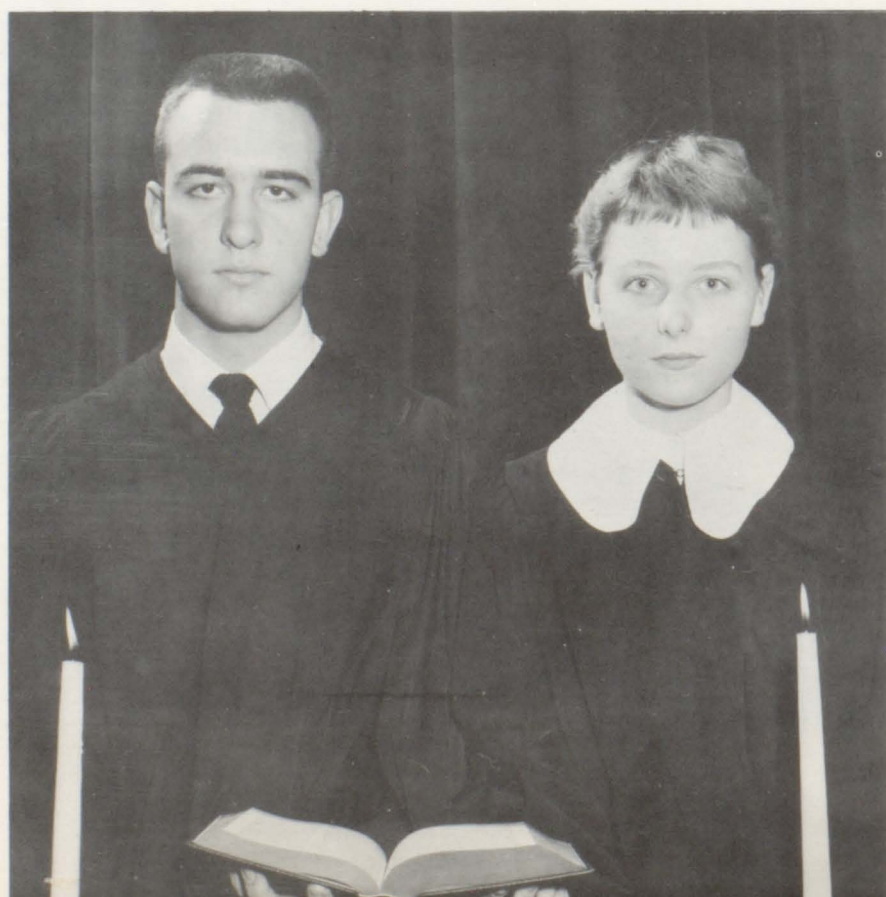

Boys aren't the only ones who play basketball around Lew Wallace. Jeanne Zaviski, Gerrie Adams, Phyllis Gordon, Edee Green, and Holly Eisenhower prove this during a GAA practice.

KEEPING

Readers for the Vesper services, held the Sunday before Christmas, were Paul Jenkins and Janice Zubrik.

A traditional scene is the raising of the flag by R.O.T.C. members, Frank Richardson, Bud Sample and Ed Sample.

The Senior Class of 1958 practice for the religious service that precedes their graduation. Baccalaureate will be held June 1.

SCHOOL TRADITIONS

Through the years the traditions that are characteristic of our school have been established.

Each morning and evening when our country's flag is raised and lowered, the entire school body stands facing the flag, while the bugle is sounded. In the fall, our Homecoming Week is climaxed with the crowning of the Homecoming Queen. On the night of September 27 the ceremony was held before a crowd of 4500 at Gilroy Stadium.

The Christmas season was solemnly observed with the Vesper services that played an important part in creating the true Christmas spirit. Baccalaureate services will be held for the Senior class on Sunday, June 1. The solemnity of these services typify the customs and traditions which have played an important part in our school lives and have preserved the spirit of Lew Wallace.

Tears of joy were shed by Sandra Magdich as she was crowned Homecoming Queen by last year's queen, Jackie Mattingly.

One of the favorite pastimes of the boys is tinkering with their cars. Norman Smith and Harold Scott both belong to local hot-rod clubs.

"Golly! We have a lot of English homework tonight!" and "Are you doing anything Saturday night?" are remarks often heard after the last bell rings and the usual congregation forms at the north door at 3:20 and 4:20 on school days.

Our leisure time means a get-together at a friend's house after school or on a Saturday night. Dating, studying, or tinkering with a hot-rod are favorite pastimes of many Wallacites.

Many new fads were seen this year. The popular Shetland sweaters of the 30's were pulled out of the attic, reversible skirts became a must, and the ever-popular saddle shoes were trampled on by the new "gumdrop" shoes.

But all our afterschool hours weren't spent socially. Much of our time was given to thoughts of the future and the accomplishments of scientists. The world's first satellite, Sputnik, closely followed by the Explorer gave us something to ponder. This was the year we became space conscious and began planning our trip into outerspace.

ENJOYING LEISURE HOURS

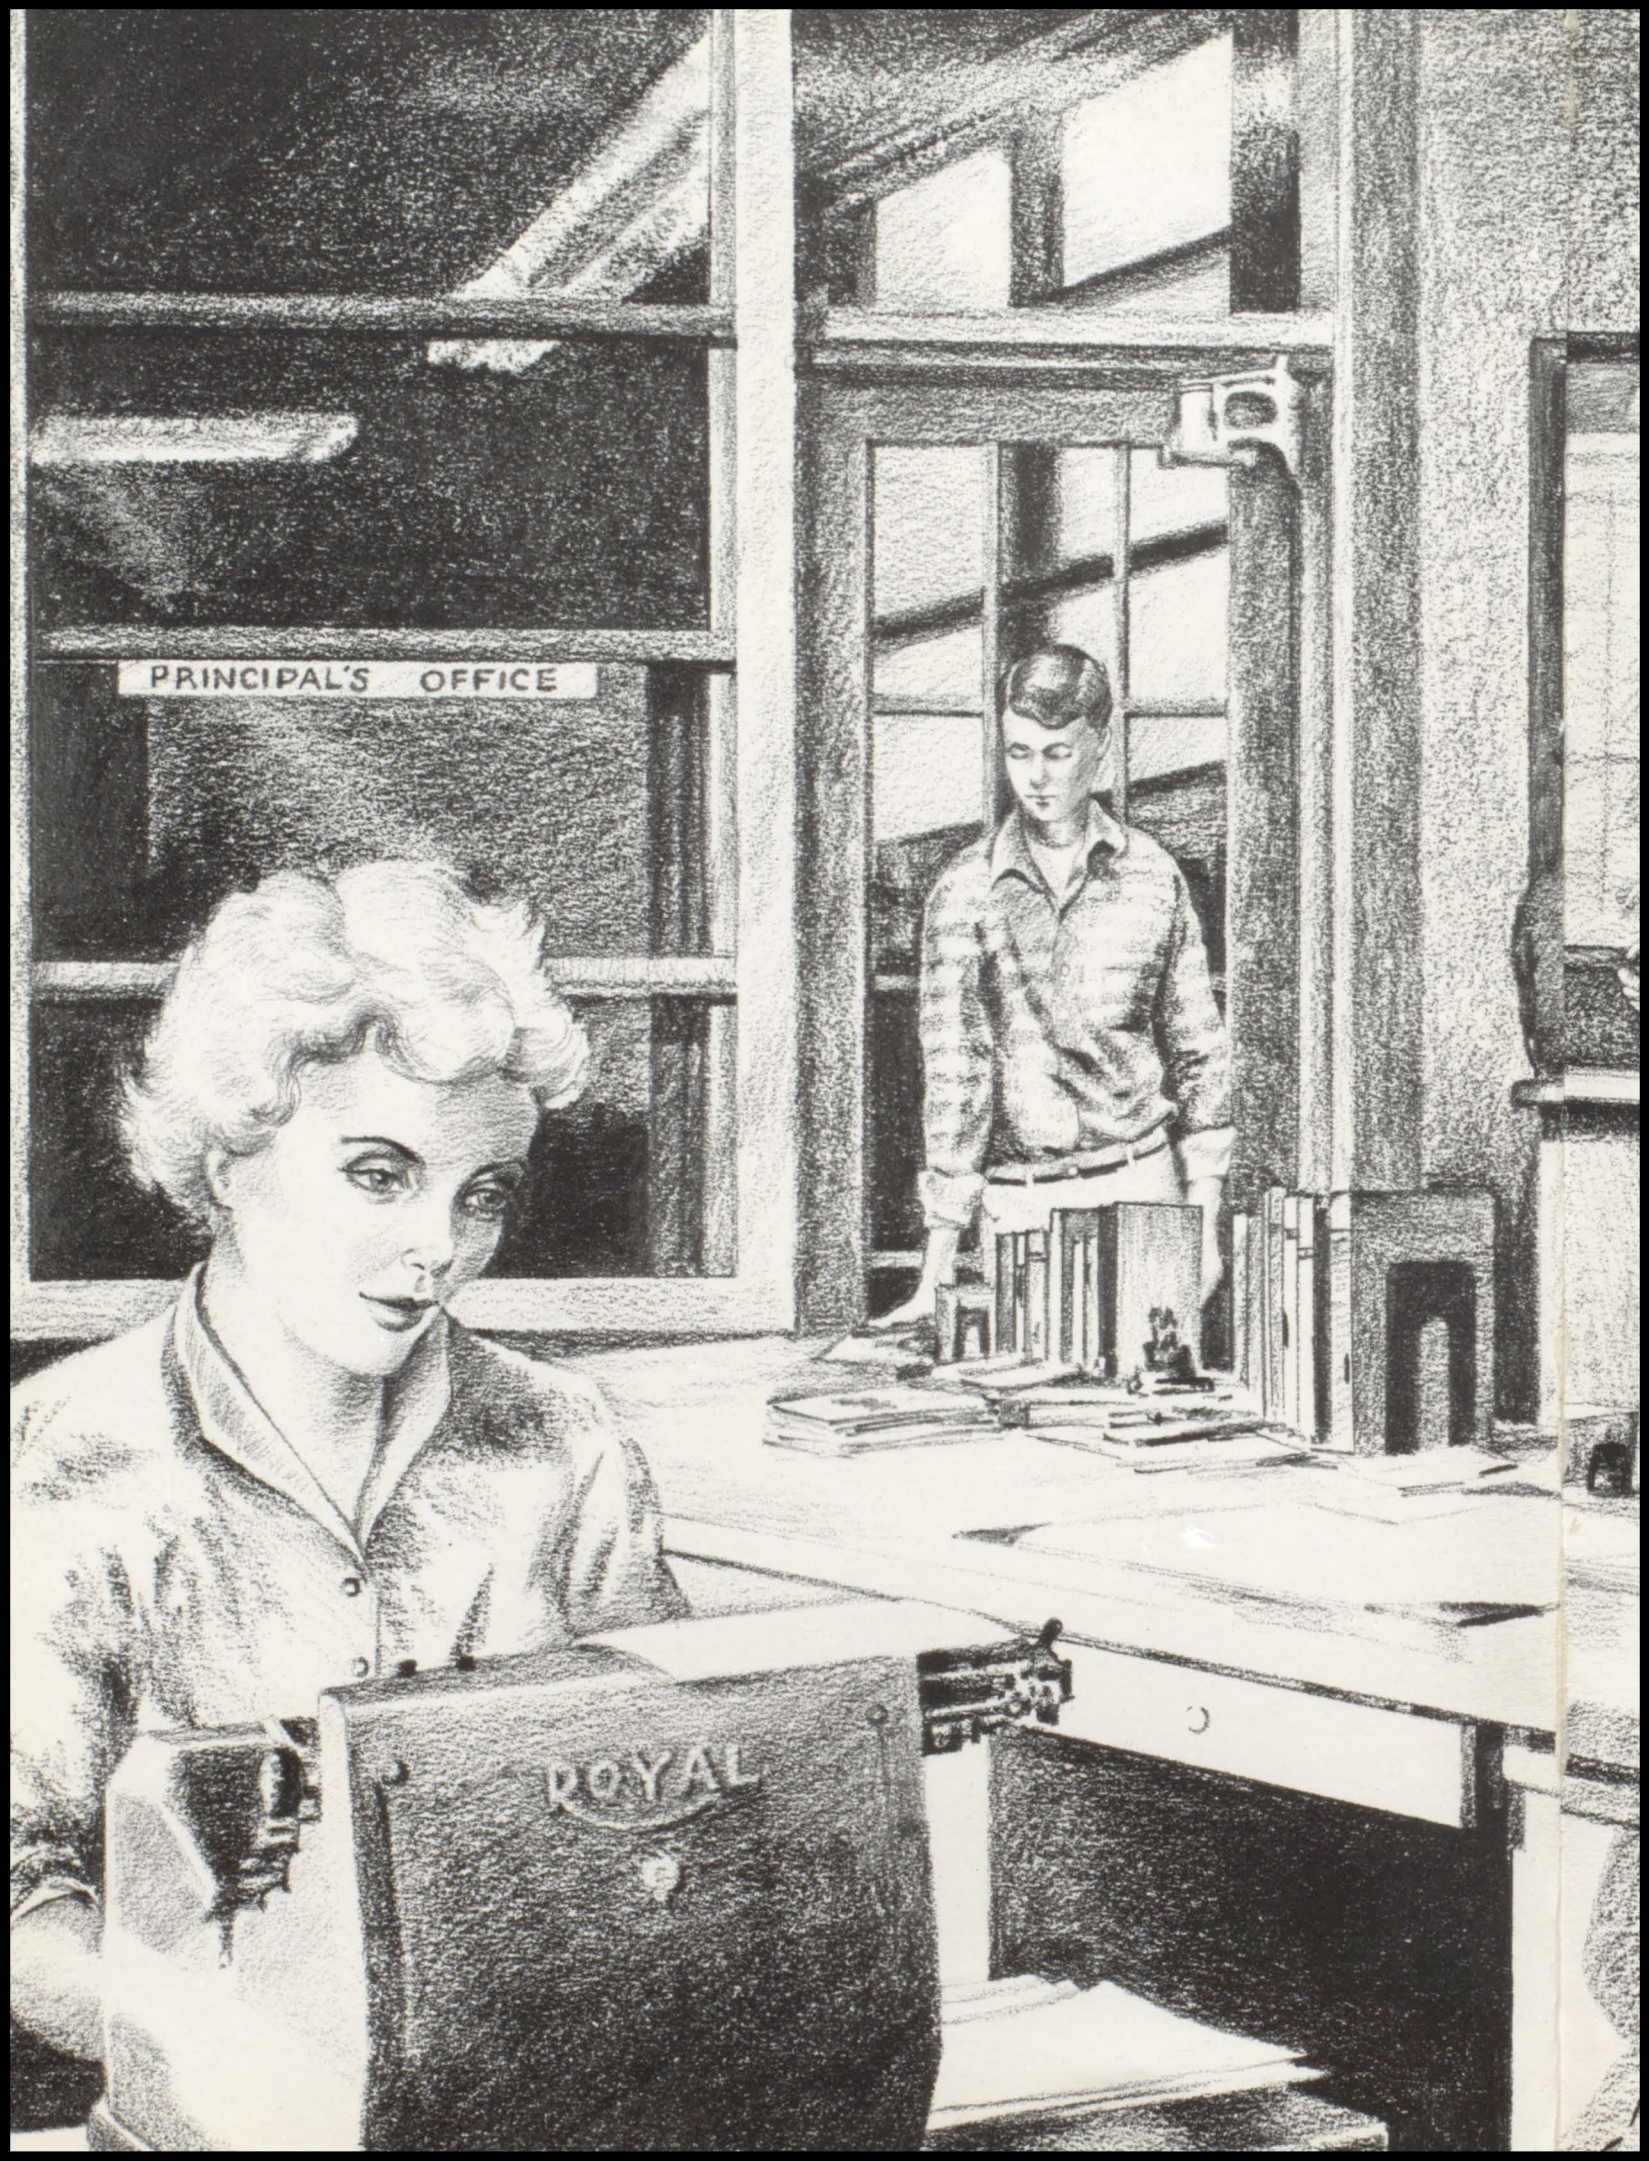

Jim Wegman and Karen Philipps show off the new fads for the year while stopping between classes for a chat.

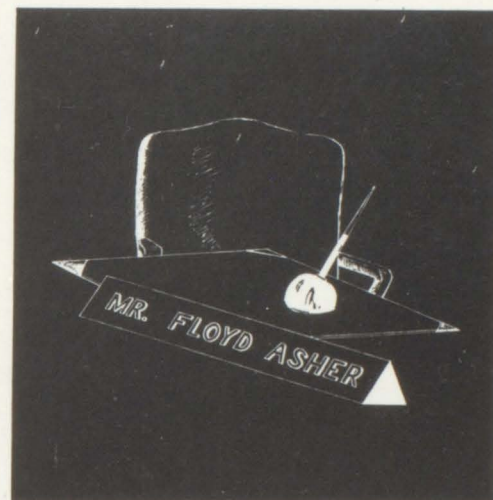

Gathered together for a snack at a friend's house are Roberta Bulza, Mary Ann Horan, Wilma Knoop, Arlene Bulza, and Louise Deckter.

A quiet evening around the fireside is shared by Jim Emmett, Gayle Smith, Mary Schnitzler, and Larry Barlock.

THE SPIRIT OF LEARNING

These are the people we meet every day — the ones we shall always remember. In learning and working together we find that our highest goals are reached by co-operating with others.

Our administration and faculty spend many valuable hours helping us solve our problems, both in and out of school. With these people we have laughed and cried in the drama of our high school life. They have created the atmosphere and they have helped to make the spirit of Lew Wallace mean a great deal to us.

Here, too, are our friends. We'll never forget the laughs and troubles we went through together when we look at them in the years to come. With them we have spent the happiest years of our lives in building the spirit of Lew Wallace.

THE SPIRIT THAT MADE US SENIORS

Here we are, seniors, on the threshold of adult life, with our high school days behind us. Looking back, we realize that we have done many wonderful things in the past four years.

Our freshman year began with the girls actively participating in Freshman Week, while the boys sought positions on the freshman athletic teams. Also that fall, we elected all boys as our first class officers. The honors went to Jerry Brown, president; Bill Melvin, vice-president; Byron Broome, secretary; and Jim Emmett, treasurer. Our first class dance, "Fresh Jam" was held late in January. We found many actors and actresses in our class when the Freshman Play "Belles on Their Toes" was presented.

Soon we realized that we were no longer "green" freshmen, but unknown sophomores. We didn't remain unknown for long, for we entered the limelight when, for the first time at Lew Wallace, two boys tied for the office of class president. The co-presidents, Larry Barlock and Dick Clark, headed our sophomore class with the aid of Leanne Phillips, vice-president; Dora Hansen, secretary; and Steve Kukoy, treasurer. We found that our sophomore year was the most difficult academically with Silas Marner and our autobiographies, but we found time to have our sophomore party, "Rhythm 'n' Blues." Finally we were upperclassmen!

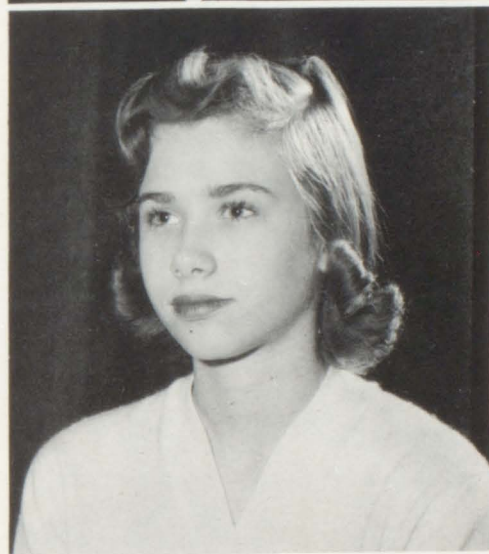

The class rings that we received at the beginning of our junior year signified that we would be taking on the responsibilities of school leadership. Again we chose boys to guide us through the year. Those selected were Dennis Sofiak, president; Paul Jenkins, vice-president; Preston Figge, secretary; and Ken Rose, treasurer. Two main projects that we had to complete before we could be seniors were the reading of "Giants in the Earth" and the writing of a term topic. The grandest part of our junior year was the beautiful Junior-Senior Prom.

For our last year we selected Maurice Massa to lead the Senior Class of 1958. To assist him were Judy Olson, vice-president; Linda Richiger, secretary; and Dennis Schwartz, treasurer. We found that many of our classmates were chosen to lead a school club, to become a star athlete, a homecoming queen, and a Polio Drive chairman. With our eyes to the future we took the S.Q.T. Test, and then 145 seniors left for the annual Washington Trip.

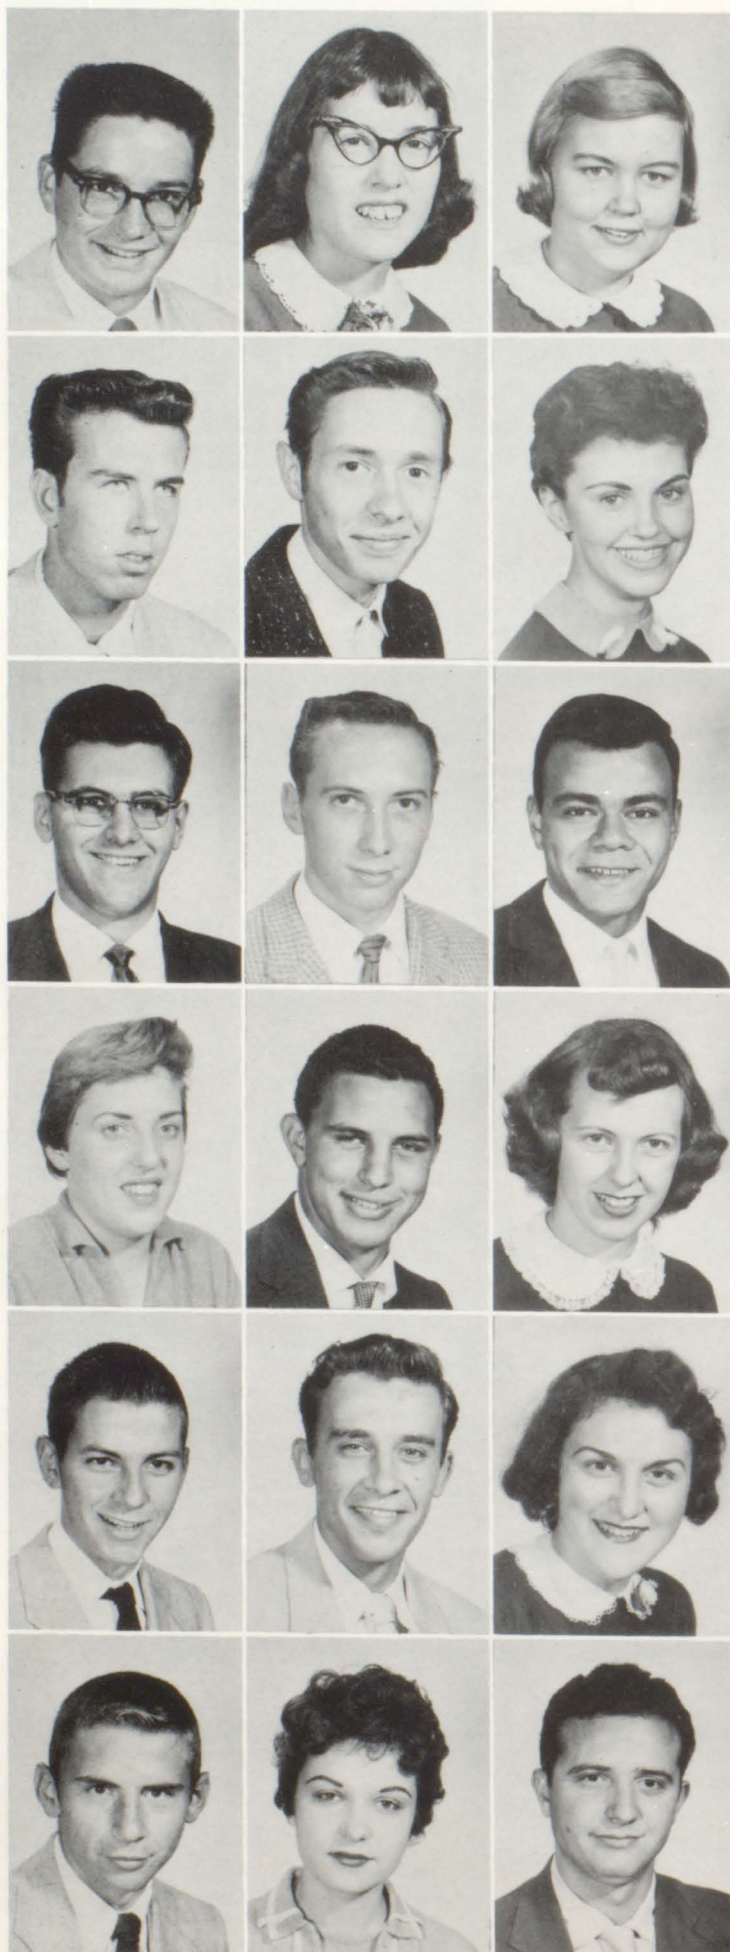

Now we are ready for Baccalaureate and Commencement. Then we will be among the alumni of Wallace. We will take with us fond memories of the spirit of Lew Wallace.

*To one of my best girlfriends. Best of luck always.
Linda Collins*

Graduation Day was drawing nigh when seniors Anne Flynn, Larry Goldberg, Preston Figge, and Mollie Brown were fitted for their caps and gowns by Mrs. Erma Minniger.

The Senior Reception made the seniors realize that they were one step closer to graduation.

Working their way to Washington, D.C., Tom Kosco, Merton Knapp, Dick Clark, Dennis Sofiak, and Bill Edwards help take over the street department in front of the Supreme Court Building.

Gawking through the iron gate of the White House, Joyce Stilinovich, Mary Schnitzler, Kiki Christoff, Judy Olson, and Nancy Yanta tried to get a glimpse of President Eisenhower.

ONE MORE YEAR TO GO

As juniors we now look back on three-fourths of our high school careers with the realization that we have but one short year ahead of us. In September 1955, we entered Lew Wallace High School as freshmen.

Our first major decision was choosing class officers. We did well in naming as president, Bruce Polizotto; vice-president, Martha Melvin; secretary, Ed Stark; and treasurer, Malcolm Stinson.

Among our activities were the Freshman Party, WINTER WONDERLAND, and the Freshman Play, JUNE MAD.

When we were sophomores, we elected Chuck Yelusich, president; Judy Perrotta, vice-president; Sue Renner, secretary; and Martha Melvin, treasurer. At our sophomore party, Beverly Fulton and Dwight Dombrowski were chosen as king and queen of the Mardi Gras, our sophomore theme.

Our school work that year held many new things which we'll always remember — geometry, Silas Marner, and the writing of our autobiographies.

This year we began by electing John Skoro as president; Irene Nicksich as vice-president; Ken Boehlke as secretary; and Judy Kocovar as treasurer.

We received our class rings in the early fall and this event signified that we were upperclassmen.

Our Prom, which was quite a bit of work for a few, but fun for many, will be remembered through the years. It was held May 16 at the Crystal Ballroom of the Hotel Gary.

These events, which are but memories now, have led to but one thing — our senior year!

"TO YOUR IDEALS FOREVER WE WILL HOLD"

WE'RE HALF WAY THROUGH!

Just two seemingly short years ago, we, the Class of '60, entered high school and began working for that ever important diploma and graduation.

As freshmen, we selected Tom Magnetti to lead us a president. Assisting Tom were Diane Novosel as vice-president, Joanne Hadberg as secretary, and Eleanor Buzuvis as treasurer. The talent of our class was discovered when THE NIGHT OF JANUARY 16th, the Freshman Play, was presented. Everyone worked hard to make the Freshman Party a success, and a wonderful time was had by all who attended.

We are no longer "green Freshies," but neither are we upperclassmen. We are upper-lowerclassmen.

Electing Mark Pilla as president, Caryl Sofiak as vice-president, Jackie Dille as secretary, and Roberta Bulza as treasurer was an important step in starting our Sophomore year off the right way. These officers have led us through the year capably and efficiently.

This past year we have struggled through four solids, passed geometry, read Silas Marner, and written our autobiographies. The year was highlighted by our Sophomore Party, Snowflake Swirl. To complete the year, we ordered our class-rings, which meant that we were getting closer and closer to becoming upperclassmen.

With all these things behind us, we look forward to becoming upperclassmen and accomplishing many new and more important things.

Different reactions were shown after Wallace won the City-Wide Peanuts for Polio Drive, January 18.

Getting into the spirit are Marty Novosel, Bill Jaclack, and Peter Jelusich.

Look at that boardinghouse reach!!

Aww, com' on now! If you can afford that, you can donate for Polio!

In 1958 Lew Wallace gained the trophy for the third consecutive year for collecting $3,189.69 in the Peanuts for Polio Drive. Here Sue Renner, Bruce Polizotto, Joy Reed, Dick Clark, and Rich Sarudy smile as they view the trophy with pride.

ONE DOWN, THREE TO GO!

Our play, CURTAIN GOING UP, set the stage for our high school life. We were recognized as the largest class, numbering 481, entering Lew Wallace in search of knowledge.

Our official induction into high school was experienced during Freshman Week. The girls found a friend in their big sister while the boys catered to the upperclassmen.

Shortly after Freshman Week, the Class of '61 elected Bill Cieadlo as president, Sue Wagner as vice-president, Mary Ballarino as secretary, and Karen Mikulich as treasurer.

The Freshman Party, Cupid's Capers made Valentine Day a most memorable one.

With one year behind us we are looking forward to a successful high school career.

*Claim,
To a sweet kid who can remember
the riots in history.
Lots of luck in the near future.

SPIRIT OF WORKING TOGETHER

The participation in clubs and other extra-curricular activities offers to us the opportunity of co-operating with friends while doing constructive work and gives us the chance to create new friendships.

There are many hours spent after school by students and teachers to better both the community and the school. Through the time spent together, we learn to work with and for others.

Exciting things often take place during the year in the clubs. Each club has its special speakers and discussions about affairs pertaining to the ideals of the club. Numerous social events and field trips are held each year also.

So much of the school life is lost if one misses the experience of belonging to some club or organization. When the students work together in close harmony, they find that they, too, are helping to build the spirit of Lew Wallace.

The Code of Ethics has been the main objective of the Student Council this year. Proofreading the Code are Jane MacLennan; Bill Forgey; Dora Hansen, chairman; and Pat Coady.

Student Council officers — Dora Hansen, Ken Rose, Mary Schnitzler, and Larry Barlock — help an unidentified Wallace "player" to stamp out those "Horsemen." This deed helped promote school spirit during the football season.

The grand march of the Inaugural Ball led by the president and vice-president of the Student Council and their dates, was the perfect time to see everyone and say hello. The Ball was given December 27, and was the social highlight for many students during the Christmas season.

Ken Clemens and Bill Forgey have read many suggestions during their two years of work with the suggestion box. Here they are making a suggestion to the students who should make more use of the suggestion box.

Beneath a canopy of white, these couples enjoyed the Inaugural Ball, especially after rushing from one house to another on a snow-studded night attending coke-tail parties.

WE GIVE VOICE TO OUR OPINIONS

The Student Council, the heart of our school government, studies various school problems and they often find an effective solution.

At the beginning of the school year, the Council sponsored Homecoming Week, Freshman Orientation, and the thirty-first annual Inauguration ceremony. All class officers and Council officers were sworn into office at this time.

During the Christmas season, the Council provided a tree for the Auditorium alcove, gave three baskets of food to needy families, and sponsored one of the biggest events of the year, the Inaugural Ball, on December 27.

The main project of the Council this year was the writing of a Code of Ethics for Wallace students.

Second semester projects included the S.O.S. Humanity Drive and the annual Activity Day program in the auditorium, at which time awards were presented to students who had achieved high honors in their school work.

This year's officers were: Larry Barlock, president; Ken Rose, vice-president; Dora Hansen, secretary; and Mary Schnitzler, treasurer.

Mr. William Vorwald sponsors the organization.

Ken Rose, vice-president; Larry Barlock, president; Mary Schnitzler, treasurer; Dora Hansen, secretary.

Eat, drink, and be merry was the slogan of these girls at the annual Girls' Club Birthday Potluck. As Eileen Coady prepares to cut the cake, Carole Mattingly, Sue Hodges, Carol Golbesky, and Sarah Flynn wait for their feast.

As Linda Richiger appears to be stranded in the branches of the Christmas tree, her friends go right on about the business of decorating it.

The corsage sale is one of the main projects for the year. Yvonne Nickovich, Sandra Panchak, Melanie Rzepka, Judy Jelusich, Maria Rahutis, and Mary Lou Rzepka foster their artistic abilities by making corsages.

Girls' Club president, Rose Ann Vukobratc, presides at one of the weekly meeting of Girls' Club Council where plans for the "Stroll" are being discussed.

Work, work, work — that is all Eileen Coady and Judy Palmer heard from Pete Knoess and Keith Pearman. They directed orders from the sidelines of the "Stroll" dance which was sponsored jointly by Auxilia and Girls' Club.

LES FEMMES KEEP BUSY DAY AND NIGHT

The first job of the official receptionists of our school is welcoming new freshmen to Lew Wallace. Through the organization known as Girls' Club, all girls are given the opportunity to promote school spirit and become active in school affairs as they make new friends.

The agenda for this year included the traditional activities of Freshman Week, Birthday Potluck, Christmas Corsage Sale, Christmas Stag Dance, Senior Reception, the Sing, Ma, Pa, and Me Banquet, and the Spring Turn-about Dance.

Service activities include big and little sisters, providing gifts and entertainment for the Old Folk's Home, maintaining an attractive calendar in the principal's office, and sponsoring teas for tired teachers.

Girls' Club sends representatives to the Suburban Girls' Club Conference and the Lake County Girls' Club Conference.

The officers were: Rose Ann Vukobrat, president; Mollie Brown, secretary; Susan Hodges, treasurer; Eileen Coady, junior vice-president; Sarah Flynn, sophomore vice-president; and Carole Mattingly, freshman vice-president.

Miss Shirley Bryan and Miss Angeline Prado are sponsors of Girls' Club.

TEENS TAKE TO TEACHING

F. T. A. was organized six years ago to provide an opportunity for high school students to gain better knowledge and to promote an interest in the teaching profession.

Through movies, panel discussions, and actual teaching experiences, the members become better acquainted with the teaching field. Further information is gained through the F. T. A. Teacher Exploratory Program at the elementary level.

The members help plan and promote College Day, participate in the district Round-up, program meetings on teaching and teachers, and present a formal induction for new members.

Selling potato chips and stationery, new projects this year, enabled the F. T. A. members to have a Christmas banquet and to take a field trip to a college. This year the club visited Ball State Teachers' College in Muncie, Indiana.

The F. T. A. officers were: president, Anne Flynn; senior vice-president, Arlene Bulza; junior vice-president, Judy Kocivar; sophomore vice-president, Karen Williamson; secretary, Pat Wilson; and treasurer, Judy Ivancevich.

The club is sponsored by Miss Marie Edwards, Miss Violet Street, and Miss Gerry Eckert.

With the rapid development of satellites and inter-continental ballistic missiles, Lew Wallace Klub Kem members are looking ahead to the future.

Klub Kem members are offered an opportunity to further their interests and to discover their talents in science by making experiments and giving special reports on discoveries of present-day scientists.

By making and selling cold cream, the club raises money to have an annual Christmas party and a spring party. Field trips are taken by members to such interesting places as the Museum of Science and Industry, Field's Museum, and Adler's Planetarium.

On Activity Day an award was presented in chemistry to the outstanding student. This was the Bausch-Lomb award.

The club was led this year by: president, Bob Holt; vice-president, Judy Perrotta; secretary, Sue McHargue; and treasurer, Ken Boehlke.

The club is under the sponsorship of Mrs. Helen MacKenzie.

BIRDS, BEES, AND BUSINESS

Improving the appearance of our school grounds, and sponsoring Audubon programs in the auditorium are two of the many services that the Biology Club performs for the school. The club was organized to stimulate interest in the natural sciences and to increase individual appreciation of nature.

Membership is open to any student who is taking or has taken Biology. Three state pins are awarded to outstanding members for valuable service to the club on Activity Day.

Through the sale of note paper and candy, funds are raised to send representatives to the Junior Academy of science meetings and to provide fresh flowers for the teachers' table.

The Biology Club officers were: president, Charlotte Schulties; vice-president, William Forgey; secretary, Ida Baseggio; assistant secretary, Marjorie Duteau; and social chairman, Darlene Farber.

Miss Lola Lemon is the sponsor.

The purpose of the Olympian club is to have fun while the members learn about the life of the Romans, the literature, and the culture of the ancient Romans and Greeks.

Members of Olympians, the Latin society, are very active in the all-city Latin conferences. In the spring they attend the Indiana Classical League Conference at Butler University, and in the summer the National Association of the Classical League, a national convention at Ann Arbor.

Other projects of the club are a "Saturnalia" party at Christmas and a farewell tea in the spring for graduating members. Furnishing two families with provisions at Christmas, and helping the Junior Classical League with national projects are part of their service activities.

The officers of Olympians this year were: Betsy Corns, Consul Supremus; Mark Pilla, Consul Secundus; Verlyn Charlson, Scriba; Jo Ann Hadberg, Quaestor; Valerie Ordinsky and Joe Banzen, Aedile; Sarah Flynn and Robert Mioduski, Princeps Cibi.

The club sponsor is Miss Agnes McLean.

"AQUI TIENE UD. ESPANCAISE CLUB, N'EST - CE PAS"

Tamales, enchiladas, petits fours, bouillon, frijoles, crepes suzettes, cafe, and leche might be found on the menu at a Sprech Club party.

Through experiences like this, Sprech Club members learn about the customs and ways of the Spanish and French people. Talks are given and movies are shown to add interest to their meetings.

Sprech Club members develop conversational skill by playing games and talking together at meetings. These meetings are held in the homes of Sprech Club members in the evening.

Membership requirements in the club's constitution were changed this year. New members of Sprech Club must be enrolled in a second year Spanish or French class or have completed two years of either language.

This year's leaders were Dick Clark, president; Martha Melvin, vice-president; Pat Coady, secretary; and Bill Melvin, treasurer.

Miss Angeline Prado is the sponsor of Sprech Club.

1st row: D. Clark, M. Melvin, P. Coady, B. Melvin, Miss Angeline Prado

"But, Mr. Chairman, I don't agree," can be heard every Friday at 11:00 on Lew Wallace's own radio station, WGVE, as members of Forensics debate local and national problems.

Members have been enrolled in the Forensic class for one semester and are interested in practicing public speaking and learning the art of debate.

Members are given a chance to use their talents by speaking and debating in local contests. Forensics sponsors the Calumet Legislative Assembly each year which gives students an opportunity to prepare for the annual Purdue Legislative Assembly.

Officers leading the group this year were: Anne Flynn, president; Keith Pearman, vice-president; Betsy Corns, secretary; and Frank Pirillo, treasurer.

The sponsor of the Forensic Club is Mrs. Mary Frances Busby.

"AS I TAKE MY PEN IN HAND"

Lew Wallace's club for budding literary aspirants is organized to develop interests in new books, stage plays, and cultured TV programs. Inkpots members discuss these and many other topics at their meetings which are held every second Wednesday of the month.

Membership to Inkpots is limited since meetings are in the homes of the members. New members are required to compose an original short story that is read to the club at their literary gatherings.

The annual Christmas party, a trip to Chicago to see My Fair Lady, and the spring banquet honoring seniors were the highlights of the club's social activities.

This year's officers were: Mary Schnitzler, president; Pat Coady, vice-president; Leanne Phillips, secretary; and Joyce Gritton, treasurer.

Miss Leora Connors is the club's sponsor.

Girls who are interested in the nursing profession join White Caps, a club designed to promote interest and knowledge in the medical field. Information is gained through educational movies, guest speakers, and registered nurses who are invited to the monthly meetings to speak about the various branches of nursing.

Services performed by the club were visiting bedside students and shut-ins, and making scrapbooks of cartoons for hospital patients. Christmastime finds the White Caps busy sewing stuffed dolls and other gifts for children in the hospitals. They entertain the patients by singing Christmas Carols.

White Caps activities included a formal induction in the auditorium, a year-end potluck, a mother-daughter May tea, and a dance.

The officers of White Caps were Valerie Goluch, president; Rose Ann Vukobratich, vice-president; Anice Odum, corresponding secretary; Judy Bulza, recording secretary; and Karen Philipps, treasurer.

Miss Shirley Crumbaugh and Miss Lois Bjelland are the club's sponsors.

GUIDES TO KNOWLEDGE

Making the library a pleasant place to study and helping students and faculty to find books is the purpose of Auxilia. The club members maintain attractive bulletin board displays outside the Senior Library.

Funds to buy special art books for the enjoyment of students were raised by selling ball-point pens and ink.

Any girl who is interested in having fun, meeting other girls, and working in the library will enjoy being a member of Auxilia Club. This year's social activities were a Potluck, a Halloween Party, a picnic, formal and informal initiations, and a couple dance.

The officers who planned the activities for this year were Judy Palmer, president, and Laura Jonushaitis, secretary. Sharon Eyears was the treasurer, and Romal Jones publicity manager. Theresa Bauer was head of the social committee.

The club's sponsor is Miss Frances Kraft.

 2nd row: I. Yudt, M. Mantz, B. Grubar, M. Duteau, J. Grabowski

A call to the office on February 25, was the biggest event of their lives for these seniors who were told that they ranked first, second, and third in a graduating class of 285.

Congratulating Dick Clark who will give the valedictorian's address on June fifth is Mr. Floyd Asher. Wilma Knoop ranking third will give the Benediction and Larry Goldberg ranking second will give the salutatorian's address.

LEADERS OF TOMORROW

As the candles are lit at the Senior Honor Society Induction, talks are given on the standards that must be met by the inductees. They are leadership, Service, Scholarship, and Character.

The Senior Honor Society selects only outstanding juniors and seniors, creates an enthusiasm for scholarship, stimulates a desire to render service, promotes worthy leadership, and encourages the development of character in high school students.

Juniors in the upper 5% of their class and Seniors in the upper 15% are eligible to become members of the Senior Honor Society.

Officers this year are Preston Figge, president; Molly Brown, vice-president; and Bill Melvin, Secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Bernard Shirk is the mentor of the organization.

1st row: B. Melvin, M. Brown, P. Figge

HIGH STEPPERS LEAD THE BAND

Majorettes must submit to stiff competitive tryouts, as well as acquire proficiency in the use of a musical instrument in order to represent Wallace.

The girls add color and interest to the band as they perform during half-time ceremonies at football games and lead the band in parades.

Their extra activities include entering the Indiana State Ensemble and Solo Contests.

The head majorette is Marsha Watts.

MUSICALLY INCLINED SENIORS

Lew Wallace had many outstanding musical performers this past year and among the finest were these four pictured here. Sandy Magdich and John Kozar, both accomplished pianists, will be remembered for their fine performance at the Senior Reception.

Harold Scott played the tuba in Concert Band and the bass in Wallace's jazz group, "The Rockets." Mollie Brown also is a master of the ivories, but her favorite instrument is the violin which she plays for the Concert Orchestra.

Sandra Magdich, John Kozar, Harold

When a group of teen-age girls get together, there is usually an upsurge of noise, but the sound that is heard when the girls of the Glee Club get together is a harmonious blending of voices. The girls give evidence of their singing ability at the annual Vesper services, the Senior Honor Society Induction, the Spring Concert, and the Commencement exercises.

The Glee Club practices many long hours in the fourth floor music room, learning both new and old tunes, with their sponsor, Mr. Alfred Fissinger.

Officers for this year were Joan Kuchinsky, president; Lynn Jordan, vice-president; and Diana Church, secretary-treasurer.

Glee Club members are B. Burton, D. Chirich, L. Collins, J. Demitrakis, B. Dent, C. Dibble, D. Dobbs, A. Feryo, L. Jordan, B. Kish, J. Kuchinsky, L. Lyon, S. Magdich, and P. Maloney

Also, G. Mayer, M. Mondrowski, P. Pangburn, C. Petrisky, S. Stech, M. Terlicher, K. Turza, N. Wales, D. Watkins, J. Wardrop, K. Yugo, M. Zavacky, B. Zawierucha, and S. Zoladz

MUSIC TO YOUR EARS

MUSIC SWEET AND LOW

Strains from Bach to Gershwin can be heard echoing from the music room when A Cappella Choir is practicing. Members from the student body and the faculty constitute the choir. They enjoy music and like to entertain for school programs outside of school.

Group blending and poise are developed at rehearsals preceding performances in the Vespers services, the Spring Concert, Baccalaureate, and the all-city Music Festival. The two major events of the group are in the Concert Orchestra program and the Senior Recital.

The officers this year were John Kozar, president; Kay Yugo, vice-president; and Everett Fisher, secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Alfred Fissinger directs the choir.

THIS WAY, PLEASE!

Auditorium Council is organized to promote the success of auditorium events and to give whatever services are needed to the auditorium. These services include ushering at all school activities, selling tickets to plays produced by the auditorium department, and promoting musical events.

Council members are required to be enrolled in auditorium work. They are selected for outstanding qualities of character and dramatic ability.

Senior students of the Council are honored guests at a dinner held at the end of the school year.

Auditorium Council officers were president, Larry Goldberg; vice-president, John Schnabel; secretary, Donna Orlich; treasurer, Jack Alvarez; and head usher, Ronnie Bowie.

Mrs. Mattie Hannsz sponsors the group.

THE PLAY'S THE THING

At last the hush of opening night has fallen over the audience. The long hours of hard work, going over scenes, memorizing lines, and eating cold dinners which preceded the presentation of the Senior Drama play have at last come to an end.

Members not only present plays, but learn to appreciate the art of drama through the works of Shakespeare and other famous writers. Going into Chicago to see the latest hits is a part of their training.

Cast parties, initiations, and a beach party at the end of the year make up the social activities of Senior Drama.

This year's officers were Joel Hersch, president; Linda Richiger, vice-president; and Martha Rocknich, secretary.

Miss Beatrice Sandles directs the class.

AN ACTOR'S BEST FRIEND

Stage Craft is a class that is offered to students who wish to learn more about back stage jobs. The most important technique that they learn is that of stage lighting.

The behind-the-scenes students have many jobs to do before any play or auditorium program. These include painting scenery, maintaining a clean and safe stage, and constructing flats and other needed props.

Mrs. Mattie Hannsz is in charge of this class.

OUR GUARDIAN ANGELS

The Lew Wallace patrol squad face the perils of snow, rain, and sleet as they perform their job of protecting us each day. Every morning these boys are at school early, directing traffic, and they're the last ones to go home after school. The patrol group is a service organization open to any boy who is enrolled at Lew Wallace.

The PTA gives special recognition to the squad for their services, and the Chicago Motor Club honors them through an auditorium program on Activity Day.

The Safety Patrol Squad is sponsored by Mr. Everett Hartsough.

MEN AT WORK

The Lew Wallace Boys' Club is a fellowship organization devised for the high school boys of the school. The club's steering committee is formed from elected home-room representatives. This committee sets up programs for mass meetings which are held in the auditorium. These programs are designed to acquaint boys with various vocations.

Washington's Ball, the name chosen for the second annual Boys' Club dance, was held on February 7 in the main gym.

The club's officers were Mike Marlow, president; Everett Nixon, vice-president; and Jack Mathews, secretary-treasurer.

The sponsors of the club are Mr. Virgil Krampe, Mr. Arthur Manning, and Mr. Ronald Phillips. Mr. Richard Hills sponsored the group during the first semester. He later became the assistant principal of Edison High School.

"WIN OR LOSE OUR BOYS WILL SHINE"

The "W" Club was organized to promote sportsmanship and to develop leadership among our high school lettermen. All boys are eligible to join "W" Club if they received major letters in sports.

The services of the club include promoting athletic events and holding ropes at basketball games to keep spectators from the playing floor during half time.

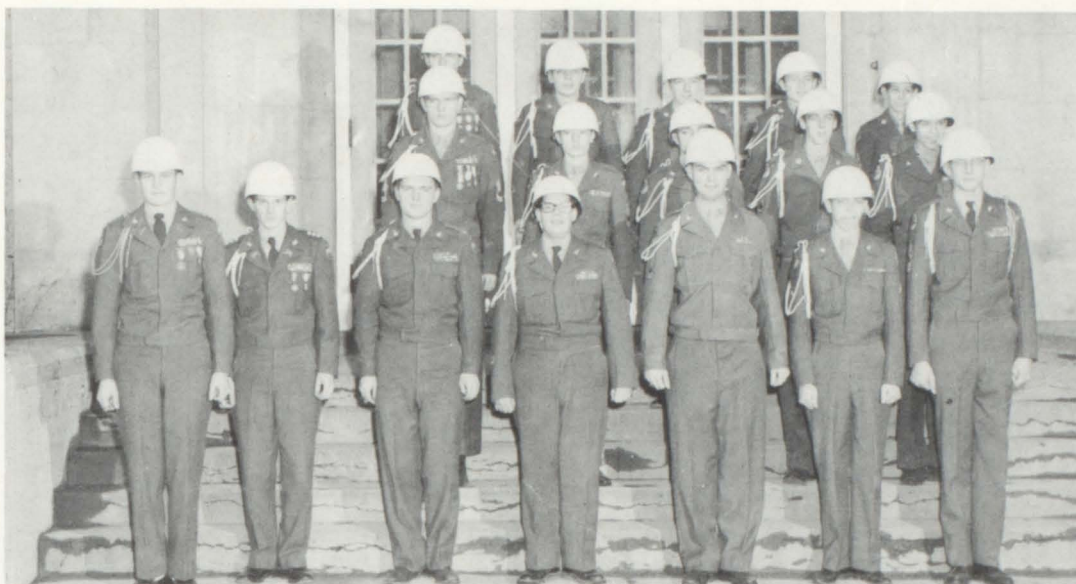

"W" Club's main social activities are enacted at their meetings, but during the summer a picnic is held for the members.

Mr. Richard Polk sponsors "W" Club.

These young men who join the R.O.T.C. are a step ahead when they enter the service. The training that they receive stresses courtesy, responsibility, citizenship, and leadership which will be invaluable to them later in life.

R.O.T.C. members are required to be American citizens, fourteen years of age, and high school students.

Besides raising and lowering our school flag, the R.O.T.C. rifle team competed this year in the 5th Army Trophy Match against the R.O.T.C. Units of 13 states and in the Hearst Trophy Match against 261 high schools in the United States and territories.

LIGHTS, CAMERA, ACTION!

What boy wouldn't like to have a job in the exciting and often glamorous field of photography? Boys wanting a future in this interesting occupation enroll in photography, thus gaining valuable experience.

The boys use their acquired skills of setting up pictures and developing them when they take all of the pictures of the Quill and Blade and the Philosopher. Another service of the photography class is taking pictures at couple dances. The proceeds help purchase photography equipment.

Boys enrolled in Audio-Visual provide the services necessary for showing educational movies to classes. Another activity of the class is to suggest and select new movies which would add interest to the class and help the students to understand a subject better. Learning how to operate and care for A.V. equipment is a basic part of this class.

Mr. George Strimbu is in charge of both classes.

The Camera Club is one of the newly organized groups at Wallace. Members of Photography who wish to have a better understanding of the field of photography - its history and functions - are eligible to join.

Field trips to the Art Institute with cameras constituted the bulk of this year's activities. Their greatest service was taking pictures for both the Annual and Philosopher.

The first officers of the new club were Ed Sample, president; Charles Bryniarski, vice-president; Gerry Pilla, secretary; and Jane MacLenna, treasurer.

The Camera Club is under the sponsorship of Mr. George Strimbu.

FLASH! MUTNIK DOG HEARD

Lew Wallace's radio station, W.G.V.E. is located behind the "ON THE AIR" sign on the first floor.

One popular program was the new pop-record show, "Platters and Matters," which was produced by radio students. The students who join the broadcasting staff gain experience in public speaking often obtain a radio operator's license, and learn the main points of operating a radio station. Programs are presented daily by the class as a part of their curriculum study.

W.G.V.E.'s services to the school are recording educational programs and classical music which may be used in the classrooms.

The "Rock of Gibraltar" around Wallace is the Philosopher staff. No matter what goes on, a reporter is around to get the news.

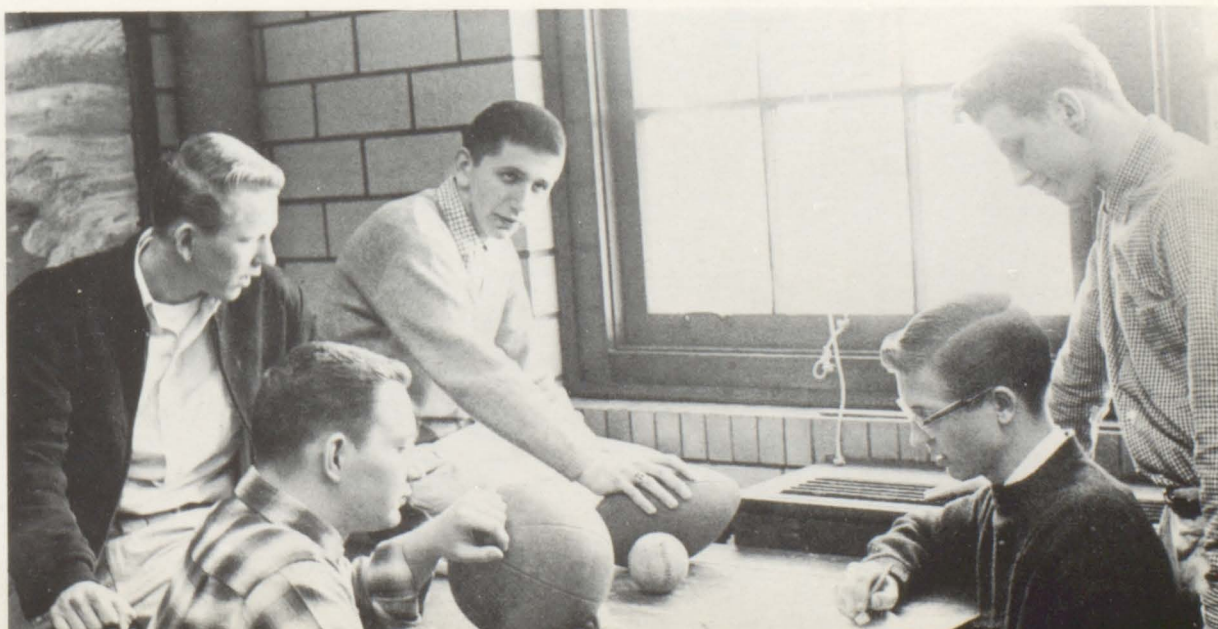

This year the Senior Edition, Calling Cards and Invitations sales, and the Student Directory constituted a view of the duties of staff members other than reporting the news. Also there were the additional tasks of the Daily Bulletin, News Bureau, and the Student News Board.

The four page editors and four copy editors, under the management of Judy Olson were kept busy all year chasing after reporters, getting the news, and making sure that the copy got to the printers on time.

From 2:20 on, Room 214M is a place of perpetual motion. Everyone is constantly scurrying around in order to get his assignments finished on time. As publications advisor, Mrs. Kathryn Welsh spent many hours of her time reading copy to OK it before it reached the printers.

The staff's mascot, Wally, had his "say so" about much of the news that was printed. He and the entire staff hope you enjoyed each issue of the Philosopher.

THE PROOF OF A YEAR'S WORK

Clickity - Clack - - ding!! And another page of copy is ready to travel along the long track to help make up this year's Annual.

When the year started in September, we were faced with the gigantic task of organizing a 112 page yearbook. Foundation plans were laid the previous summer at the Annual division of the Indiana University Journalism Workshop. It was at this time that Joyce Zaviski, the 1958 editor, decided that the theme would be the "Spirit of Lew Wallace." As soon as the school doors opened September 3, we found ourselves head over heels in work; organizing Picture Day so that every high school student could be pictured in the album section; taking candid shots of the many Wallace activities; and starting the copy that would tell the story of our school.

It was hurry, hurry, hurry, as we burned the midnight oil in order to meet our deadlines. Names were checked and double checked to make certain that they were spelled correctly. Everything had to be "just right" for your 1958 Annual. Finally, the whole story was in the hands of the printer.

And the staff finally reached its goal - - another year of activities recorded forever in the Annuals of Lew Wallace. It is now your book, and we hope that you enjoy it.

THE SPIRIT OF TEAMWORK

The ability to co-operate with other people is highly regarded as a trait of character. By playing on a team, a person can develop this quality as well as having an opportunity to promote good sportsmanship. Learning to win, as well as to lose, is a vital factor in character development.

Everyone in high school has an opportunity to show his athletic ability and loyalty for his school by participating in sports events. The boys may try for varsity teams while the girls may compete in interschool GAA meets.

The support of the student body working as a team plays an important part in determining the outcome of the game. This teamwork and loyalty is an inspiration to the players to put forth the utmost of their ability and it is a consoling factor in the face of defeat.

Sports is a healthy, competitive field which truly brings forth in all participants the spirit of teamwork.

HARDER FIGHTING + HARDER WORKING = BETTER MEN

Mgs.: T. Green, K. Pearman

A young team and a new coach provided the Hornet fans with many thrills through-out the season. The coaches and the boys did their best to fill every minute of every game with the kind of excitement that only the gridiron can provide.

The success of our team can be measured by the unification it brought to a group of young men who were striving for a common goal. The lessons most thoroughly taught were those of taking each game as it came, and to receive victory and defeat in the same light.

Coach Black and Coach Martin can be proud of a job well done when they look at the men of the 1957 Hornet Varsity Football Squad.

Homecoming Court: Joyce Zaviski, Darlene Sendre, Mary Schnitzler, Margaret Rondinelli

A GAME, A DANCE, AND A QUEEN

One of the most anxiously awaited and important events of the school year is Homecoming.

This year, the festivities started with the nomination of seniors, Sandra Magdich, Margaret Rondinelli, Mary Schnitzler, Darlene Sendre, and Joyce Zaviski as candidates for Homecoming Queen.

During the half-time ceremonies of the Wallace-Emerson game, Jackie Mattingly, the 1956 Homecoming Queen, relinquished her crown to the new queen. It was a tense moment as she walked behind the candidates. There was a general uproar of yells and screams as she placed the crown on Sandra Magdich, along with the many tears of happiness.

Our enthusiasm was not dampened, although the Golden Tornadoes defeated our Hornets 33-19 in rain-soaked Gilroy Stadium. After the game we returned to Wallace where we concluded a week of fun and celebration at the largest stag dance in the history of our school with over 800 loyal fans attending.

Bob Bazin skirts right end for a Wallace gain against Emerson, Homecoming night.

THE BEST WAY TO TEE OFF

Golf is a young but growing sport as far as high schools are concerned. Lew Wallace's golf team is under the instruction of Mr. James Anderson. Two schools in Gary support golf teams, but traveling to neighboring cities, we have found enough competition to satisfy our thirst. A young golf aspirant can find all the practice and attention desired simply by showing his handy work with the irons, woods, and putters.

HOOSIER HYSTERIA AT ITS HEIGHT

Coach Dom Polizotto capably guided our basketball team through a season that will surely be recorded as one of the most hectic in Lew Wallace history. Typical of the thrills provided was the contest against Whiting in which the Hornets came out on top with a 48-47 tally.

Providing tense moments came as naturally to the varsity five as does scoring baskets or snatching rebounds. All in all it can be said that the 1957-58 basketball year at Wallace was a trying and yet an immensely exciting one.

A late attempt to prevent Preston Figge from tallying two more is made by a Panther from Roosevelt.

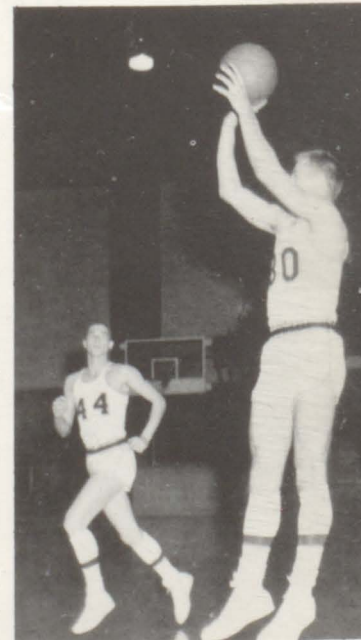

Bill Melvin throws up a screen against a Michigan City Red Devil.

Jerry Troxel makes a set shot from the side as a Michigan City Red Devil tries to thwart the attempt.

Bill Edwards blocks an intended goal shot by a Froebel opponent.

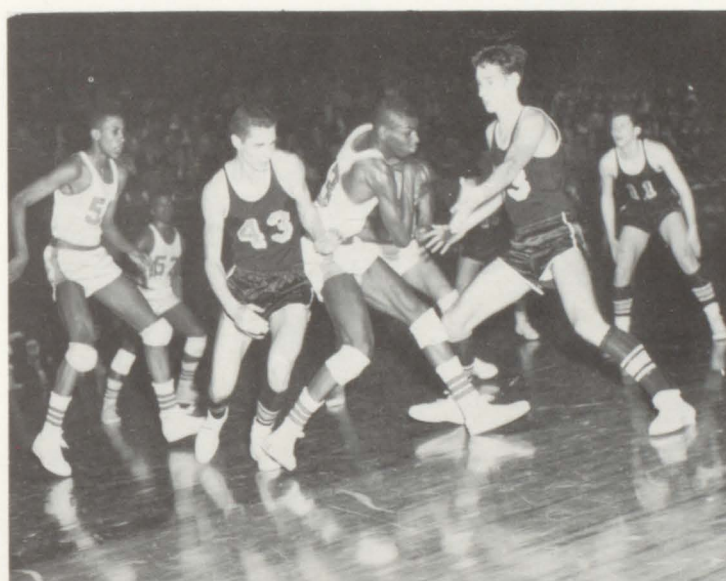

A determined look and a precise shot result in two tallies for Bob Bazin.

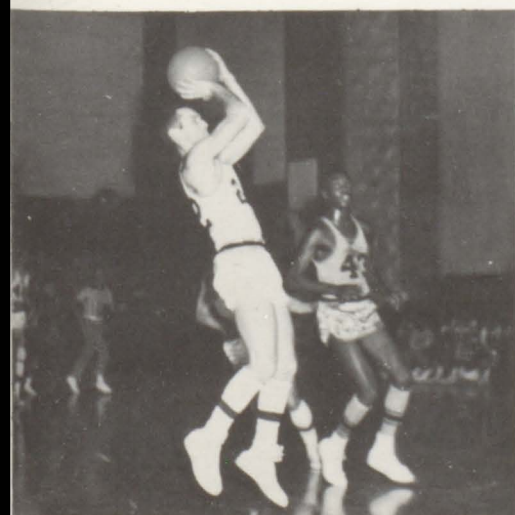

All eyes are on "Sofie" as he puts one up against the Froebel Blue Devils.

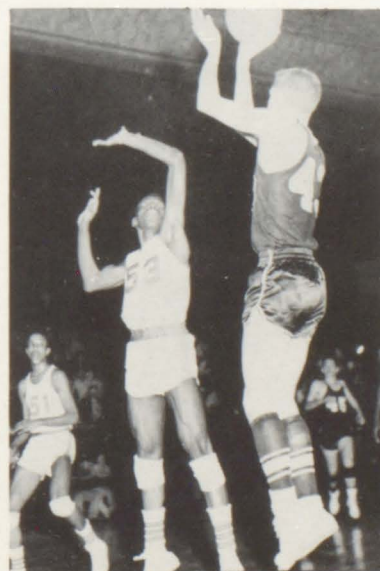

A long stretch makes the Oilers of Whiting perk up and take notice of 6'4" George Namovich.

An Attucks Tiger hastily snatches the ball from the hands of Dick Clark and Dennis Sofiak.

Poised for a killing is Tom Shay, senior guard. His expectant onlooker is a Roosevelt Panther.

It's two more for sure! That's Dick Clark shooting!

SCHOOL SPIRIT -- THEIR JOB

Screaming, shouting, crying, jumping, smiling, and frowning are some of the antics of the cheerleaders when they are backing their team—our team. Whether winning or losing, the girls keep cheering and showing their confidence. Their only reward is helping to give the team a will to win. They try to show the sportsmanship and school spirit which typify Lew Wallace.

Miss Angela Hannagan is the sponsor of the cheerleaders.

ANYTHING BOYS CAN DO, WE CAN DO BETTER

GAA is noted for the largest total membership of any club in the school. It has as its main purpose the promotion of interest in all kinds of sports, in school and in years to follow. The governing body of the organization is the council, consisting of thirteen upperclassmen.

The sports schedule is widely varied to meet everyone's interest. Beginning in the fall the sports are swimming and softball. Through the winter, basketball, volleyball, and bowling predominate. In the spring more softball and swimming are added.

An outstanding feature of the GAA is the opportunity the girls have to participate in inter-school activities. There are three or four sport days each year with two or three GAA's from other Gary schools.

The climax of the school year is the annual camping week-end, held at Indiana Dunes State Park in May. The girls have the opportunity of experiencing out-door life and using to the fullest extent their abilities acquired throughout the school year. At this time, the girls also receive the various awards which are offered for outstanding achievements.

Trying to offer a well-balanced program during the year helps to achieve our highest goal.

The club was successfully led by Edee Green as president, Darlene Sendre as sports co-ordinator, and Phyllis Thomas as vice-president.

Miss Mary Sharp is the GAA sponsor.

Wallace congratulates senior Larry Bess, state R.O.T.C. sharpshooter champion. His score was 962 out of a 1,000 point rifle meet.

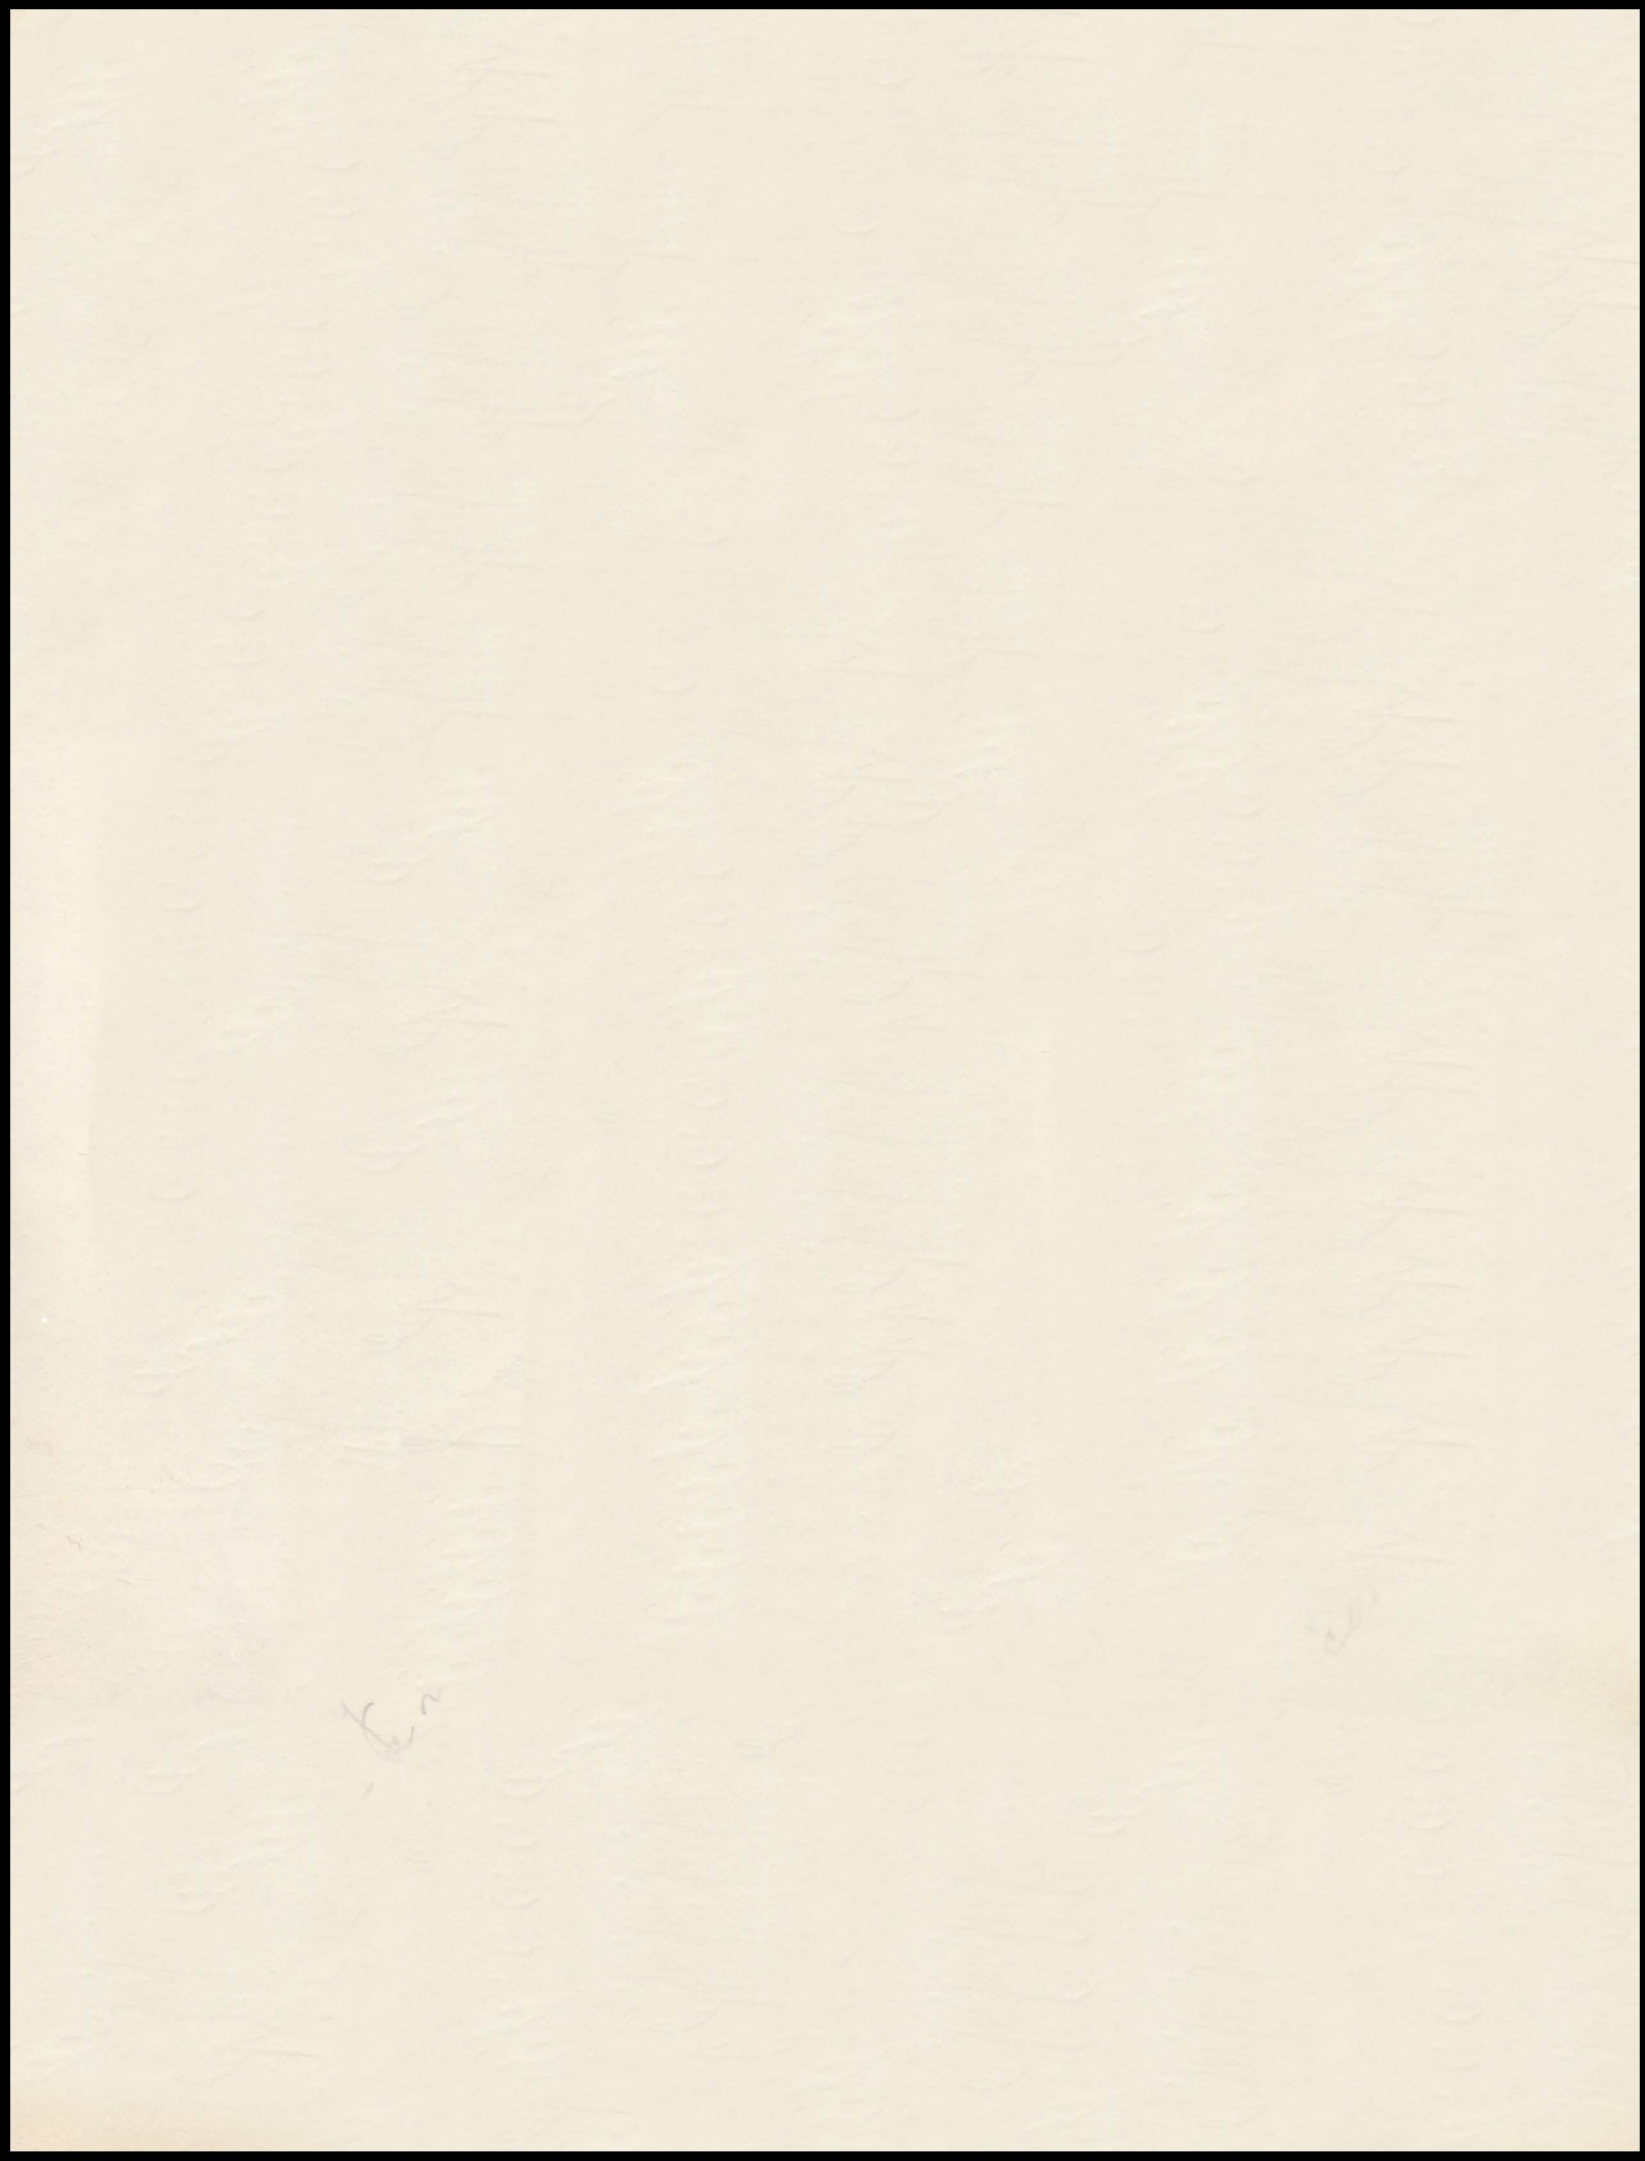

Coach Dom Polizotto congratulates Dick Clark and Dennis Sofiak when they were named to the all city basketball team.

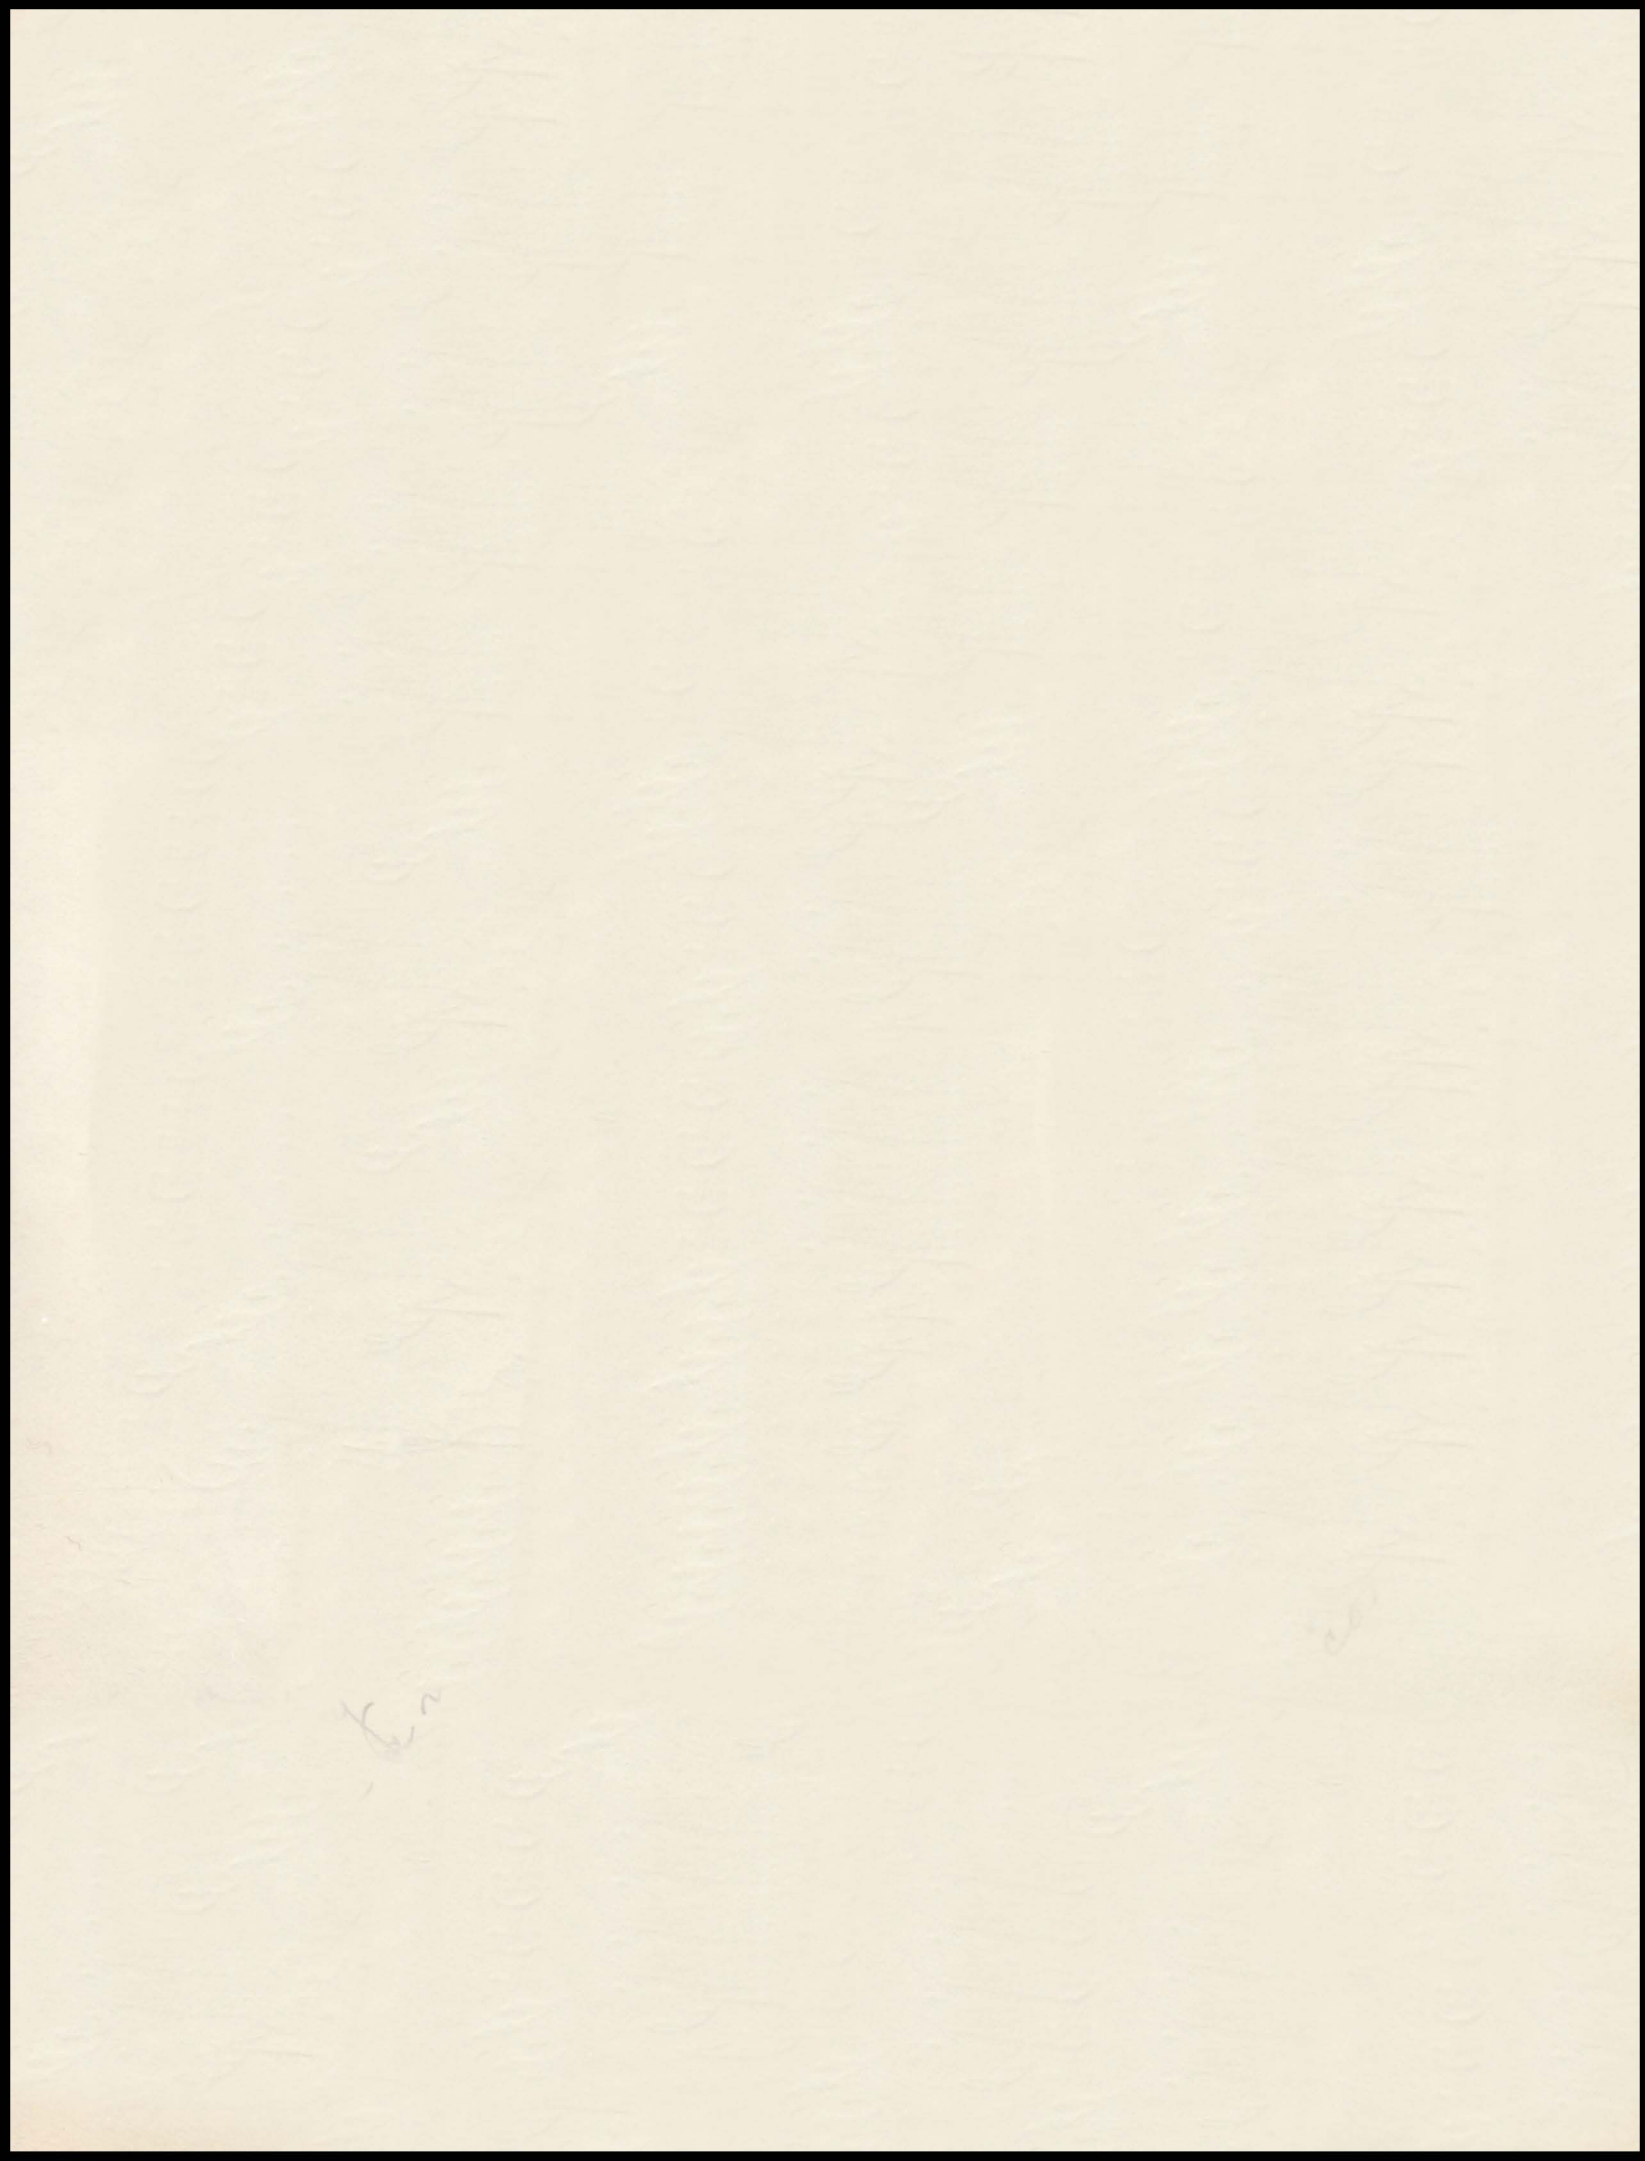

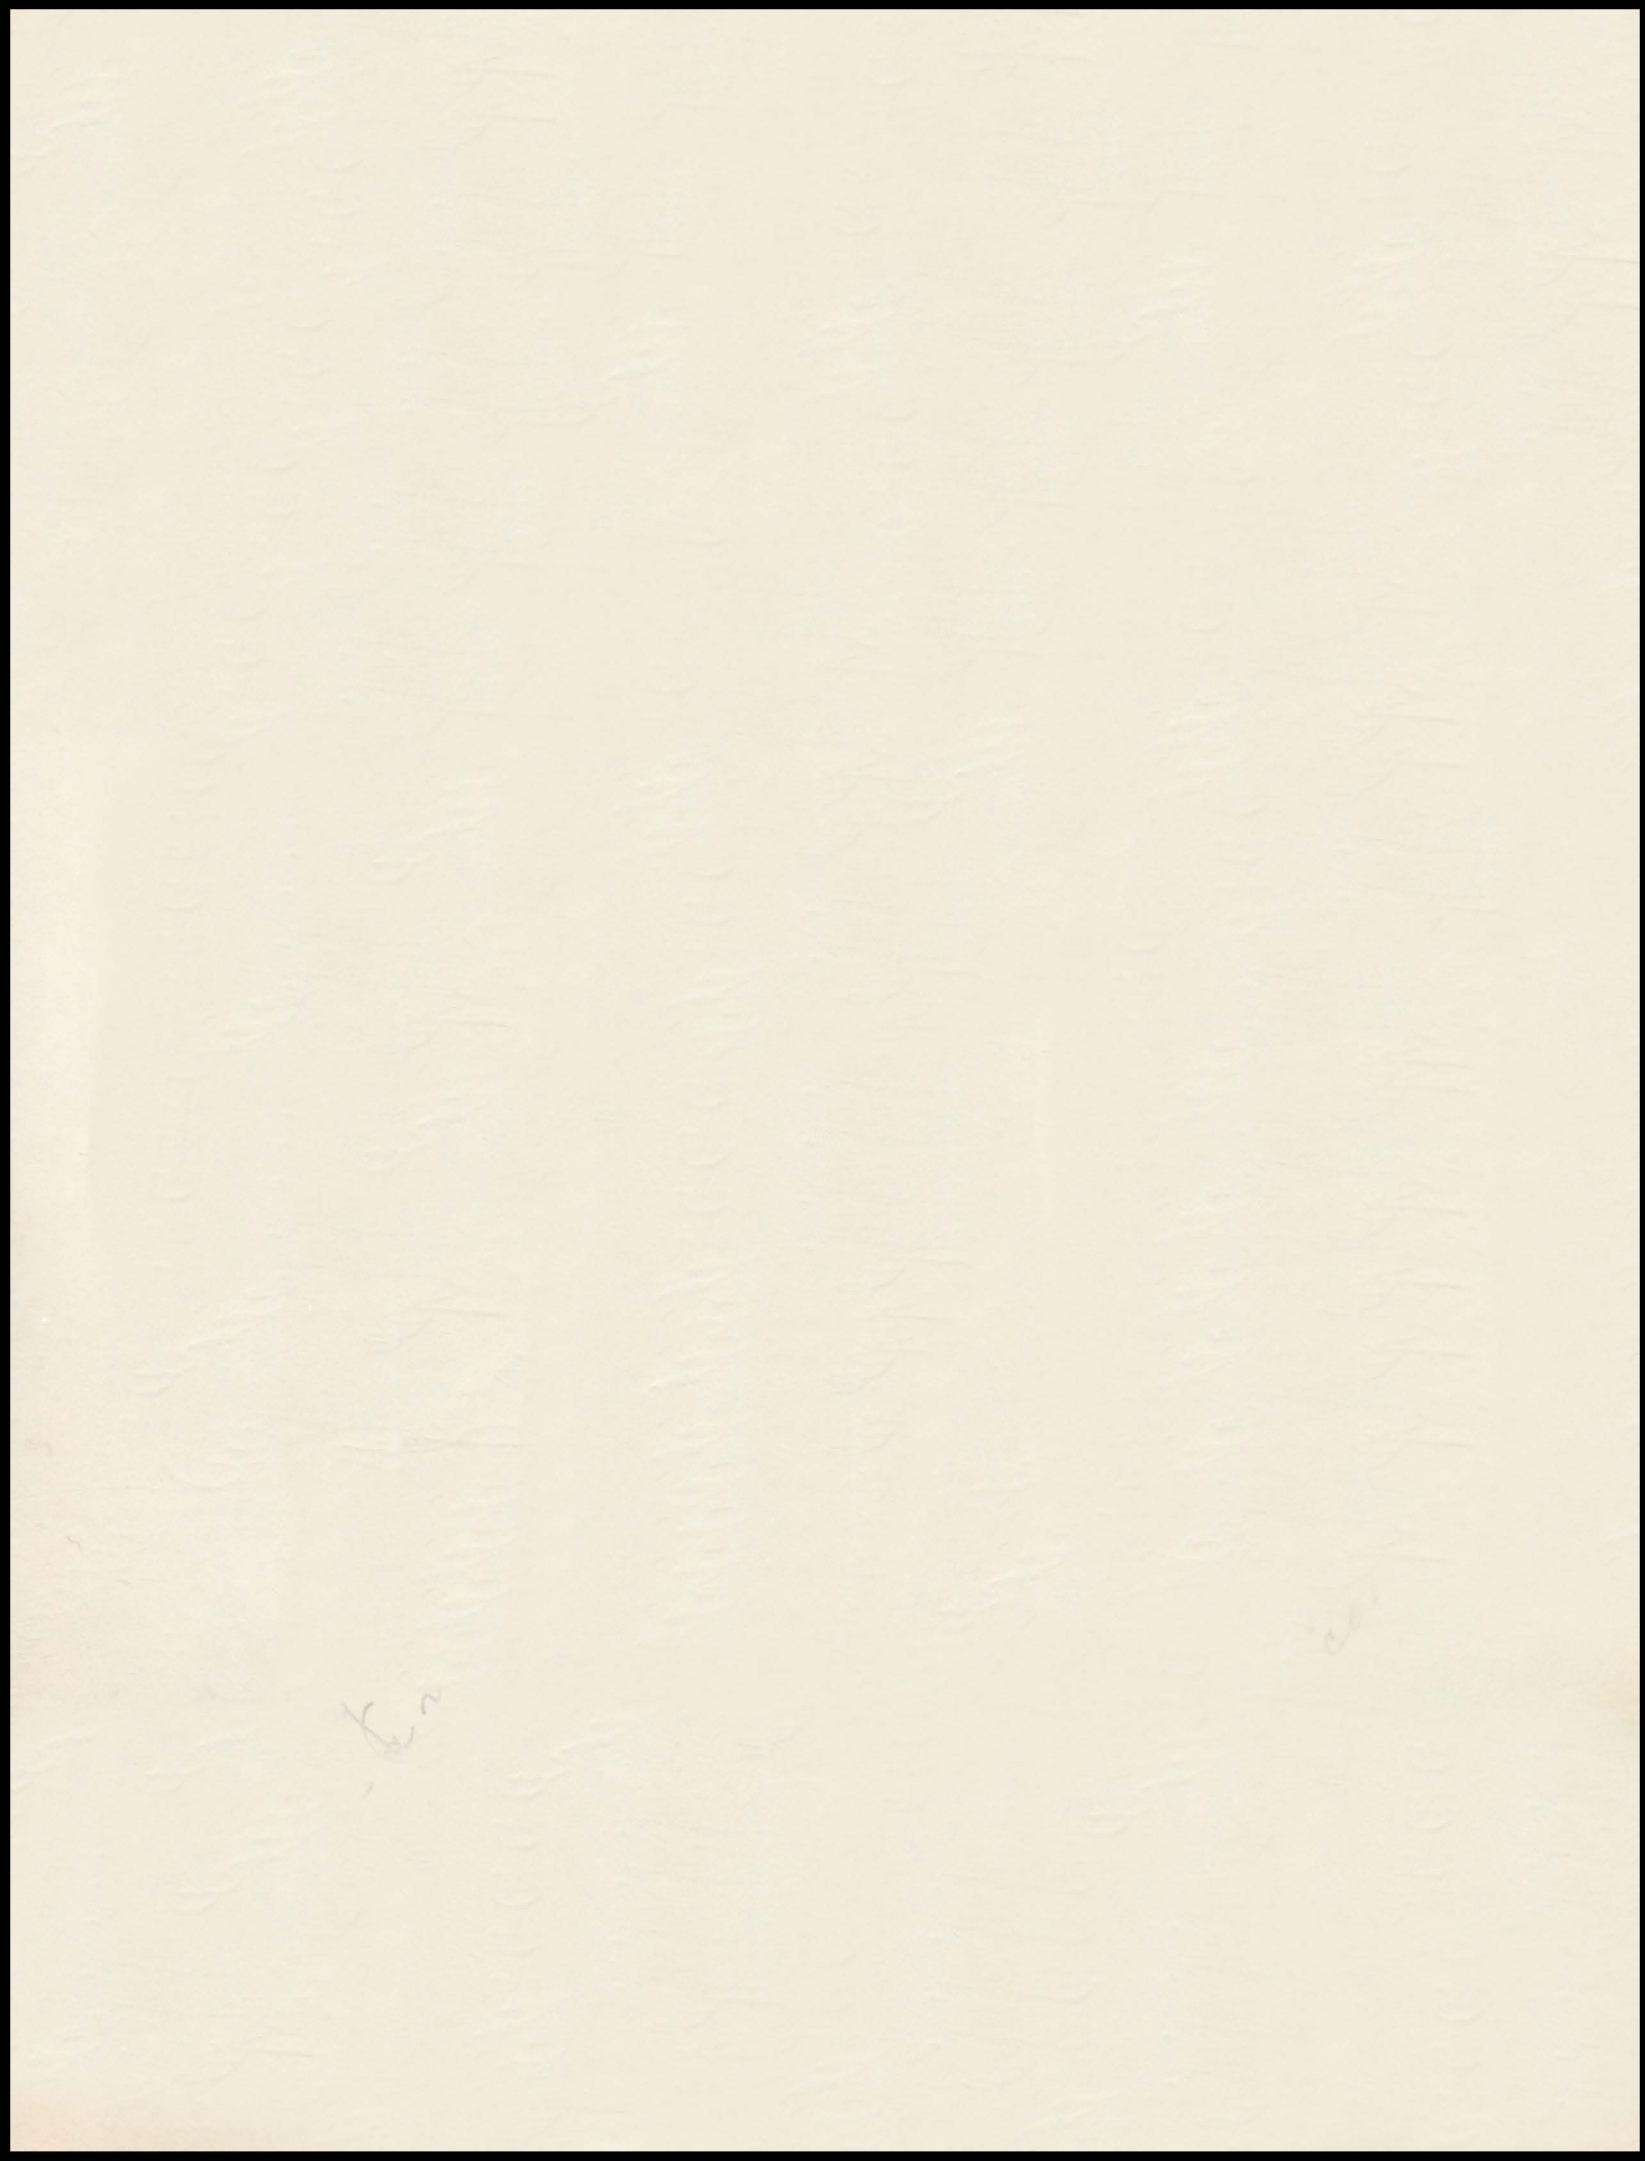

Will Catty
it's our second year together and sure we both feel the same way. We hate it (Chuckle!)
well any way I sure hope it's over. Set of luck
